

Vacation Bureau Plans $1,500,000 For Advertising

Expenditure Increase Of 40-Percent

By Paul Carlson

POCONO Mountains Vacation Bureau and its 145 member resorts are expected to spend an estimated $1,500,000 in advertising and promotion during the next fiscal year.

J. Horace Strunk, PMVB executive secretary, made the announcement last night at the mid-Winter meeting of the bureau's advertising committee at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

The anticipated expenditure represents a 40-percent boost over the last fiscal year, Strunk disclosed. Almost all Pocono resorts have hiked their advertising and promotion budgets for 1957.

Most of the money will go into newspaper advertising and promotion, Strunk further reported.

The increase is being made, he said, in the face of intensive competition for the tourist dollar by resorts all over the Atlantic Coast. The promotion campaign will be aimed at bringing to the attention of potential visitors the "outstanding facilities" the Poconos offer.

"The accelerated trend in promotion follows close upon the heels of a substantial growth of confidence on the part of resort owners, who did well competitively and comparatively with resorts in other states this past season," Strunk said.

To back his optimistic report, Strunk noted that a survey was conducted recently among 30,000 persons who made written inquiry regarding Pocono vacations during 1955-56.

Satisfied

"Eighty-six percent of those who subsequently came to the Poconos said they were well satisfied with their vacations, and 76 percent indicated in writing they would return in 1957," he disclosed. "It is also understood that at least 90 percent of those polled were new visitors to the Poconos last year."

He further reported that the Pocono Mountain area is becoming the honeymoon mecca of America. One resort alone out of 30 catering to newlyweds has played host to more than 100,000 honeymooners during the last 10 years.

Meanwhile, bureau president Paul Asure of Mount Pocono, reported that in addition to the (Please turn to Page 5)

Nehru Believes U. S. Should Become Tough

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said tonight the United States should "take the bull by the horns and deal with Russia" on a Middle East settlement.

He gave the impression at a news conference, though he did not say so specifically, that he believes an agreement might result in halting the stream of arms to the Middle East.

The Indian Prime Minister received resident American news correspondents at his elegant official residence just four days before beginning official and personal talks in Washington with President Eisenhower and other U. S. officials.

He is to arrive in Washington next Sunday and will spend four days in conferences, including one entire day of complete privacy with the President at the latter's Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Several Talks

Nehru has just concluded several talks with Chou En-lai, Red China's premier and foreign minister, on world issues.

Nehru said he was looking forward to going to Washington adding:

"I am quite certain one result will be a better understanding and the discovery of more avenues of cooperation."

"I am a great admirer of President Eisenhower. I hope to be able to put before him a broad outline of how we developed to what we are. Eisenhower has both vision and understanding provided he has the facts before him."

He said American foreign policy was developing "a marked emphasis against colonialism," and that India can "help some in the Middle East because we are trusted there."

General Assembly Condemns Soviets

Leader Views Free Highways

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12 (AP)—Gov. Leader asserted today that completion of the Delaware Expressway would herald an era of toll-free roads.

"The era of the toll road is rather largely behind us," Leader said after a closed meeting with trustees of the Greater Philadelphia Movement on the expressway and related matters.

The governor said he believed legislation to remove toll booths from certain roads would be introduced at the next session of Congress. He added that it would be "impossible," in his view to have toll roads running parallel to free ones.

Position

An even stricter position was taken by the federal government some months ago when it refused to approve an alignment of the expressway that would free traffic directly onto the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Leader announced earlier in Harrisburg that the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads had approved the $200,000,000 expressway as part of the national system of interstate and defense highways. Later, in Philadelphia, he said, that "within a year, we can be ready to take contracts on it (the expressway)."

The highway will run from a connection of the Walt Whitman Bridge to the Pennsylvania-New Jersey state line at Trenton, approximately 25 miles.

Four Lanes

It will be a four-lane, limited access, divided highway.

As part of the national system of interstate and defense highways, the construction costs of the Delaware Expressway will be eligible for federal aid up to 90 per cent. Under the provisions of the Federal Highway Act of 1956, roads in this system will be financed by 90 per cent federal funds and 10 per cent state funds.

George J. Richards, deputy secretary of highways, said the group "spent a good deal of time discussing the highways picture in Pennsylvania."

"We didn't dwell too much on any one phase of it," he said. "We covered it all in a general way."

He said the discussions on highways "had to do with nothing that has not already been mentioned over and over again."

Bell To Raise Rates $13.5 Million

AN ESTIMATED 9,000 area customers may be affected by an immediate $13.5 million boost in rates granted to the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania by the State Public Utility Commission in Harrisburg yesterday.

The utility's Stroudsburg office handles about 10,000 accounts, but some represent coin boxes which will not be affected by the increase, local manager Budd VanHorn disclosed last night.

VanHorn was unable to immediately say how much the rate boost will mean to individual customers. At present, the residence rate is $3.75 monthly, while the business rate is $6.75 a month.

Although the company has until Dec. 26 to file its new rates, the boost will be retroactive to Dec. 12, he pointed out.

Statement

Shortly after the PUC granted the increase, VanHorn released a statement by W. D. Gillen, president of Bell of Pennsylvania. It read:

"The 4.9 percent increase in revenues allowed by the Public Utility Commission is grossly inadequate to enable us to provide our customers with the telephone service they need and want and for which we know they are willing to pay a fair price."

"Therefore, to keep faith with our customers in performing our service responsibilities, it will be necessary for us to obtain further increases in our rates at an early date."

"The $13,400,000 increase in rates allowed by the commission nets the company less than $6-million after taxes."

"By any standard, it must be obvious that our costs have gone up considerably more than 4.9 percent since December, 1952, the date of our last rate increase."

"The wages we must pay and the costs of everything we buy have increased substantially more. Our dollars are the same kind of dollars that everyone else uses. They cannot be stretched to cover inflationary costs which are greatly in excess of the small increase in revenues allowed."

The increase granted by the PUC was only one-third the $37-million asked by Bell last January and protested by Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and a number of other cities.

Bell first filed for the rate boost last January. The PUC postponed the effective date twice to permit its investigation. Twenty-seven days of hearings were held with nearly 3,400 pages of testimony taken.

Long distance and public coin box rates are not affected by the order which involves 2,369,000 subscribers using 3 1/4 million telephones in Pennsylvania.

In 1952, the firm received a 2 1/4 million dollar rate boost and in 1949, one for nearly 18 million dollars.

Claim

Bell claimed it needed the 37 million dollars to meet higher operating costs. This contention was disputed by the cities of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Bethlehem, Chester, Washington, Pa., the state CIO Council and a number of individual subscribers.

The PUC found Bell entitled to a net annual return of $39,825,000 and the $13,477,898 increase approved provides that amount.

The PUC said the rate boost will bring about a 5.9 per cent return on the PUC's fair value finding of 675 million dollars on Bell's plant as of June 30.

Bell asked for a 6 1/2 per cent or 6 3/4 per cent return and the complainants said the figure should not be more than 5 1/2 per cent.

Workers Chase Chief

MCKEESPORT, Dec. 12 (AP)—Angry members of Local 1408 of the United Steelworkers tonight chased their president, John J. Donahoe, out of the union hall at a meeting called to nominate candidates for international union offices.

He said of the decision, "deep indeed is our gratification." He said admission to the U. N. had become for Japan a "national aspiration." He tendered "heartfelt gratitude" to countries that had supported Japan's application.

Police Arrest Teenagers

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12 (AP)—Police picked up 65 teenagers for questioning today after a fight broke out aboard a trolley loaded with homebound students.

55 Nations Favor Action Against Russia

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—The U. N. Assembly overwhelmingly condemned the Soviet Union tonight for crushing Hungarian independence and called on Moscow to withdraw its armed forces immediately from the revolt-torn land.

It was the first time such a judgment had been returned by the Assembly against any U. N. member.

The vote in favor of an American-backed resolution slapping the Soviet Union for its actions in Hungary was 55 in favor, eight opposed and 13 absents. The Soviet bloc voted against the resolution with the exception of Hungary which was absent.

The voting split the Asian-African bloc. V. K. Krishna Menon of India abstained but other members such as Burma, Ceylon, Iran, Lebanon, Libya, Nepal, Pakistan, Philippines, Thailand and Tunisia voted for the resolution. It was the sharpest split in this bloc yet to be registered in the Assembly.

Drive

The Soviet Union angrily denounced the resolution and began a drive to bring charges against the United States for allegedly intervening in the Soviet bloc countries. This will likely be debated later by the Assembly in the course of its regular work.

By its decision the Assembly called for the third time for the Russians to get out of Hungary. This time it added the judgment against the Soviet Union in the following words:

"Declares that, by using its armed force against the Hungarian people, the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is violating the political independence of Hungary."

"Condemns the violation of the charter by the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in depriving Hungary of its liberty and independence and the Hungarian people of the exercise of their fundamental rights."

The Assembly asked Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, who has been trying unsuccessfully to go to Budapest to start U. N. relief work, to "take any initiative that he deems helpful in relation to the Hungarian problem." This left it up to Hammarskjöld to decide what to do. It was inserted at the last minute to block a proposal by India, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia for the Assembly to instruct Hammarskjöld to go to Moscow in an effort to achieve a solution.

Voice Votes

Before the vote on the 20-country resolution was taken, the Assembly knocked down by voice votes a series of amendments by India, Ceylon and Indonesia which would have deleted the condemnation clause and tempered down the resolution to a great degree. It would have also asked Hammarskjöld to undertake the new mission. The amendments gained almost no support except that of its sponsors.

After the resolution was approved Krishna Menon of India withdrew a resolution put up by Burma, India, Ceylon and Indonesia. Its principal clause was to note with regret that the Soviet Union has not withdrawn from Hungary.

Hungary, Haiti and South Africa were absent when the voting came. Those abstaining were Afghanistan, Cambodia, Egypt, Finland, India, Indonesia, Jordan, Morocco, Saudi Arabia, Sudan, Syria, Yemen and Yugoslavia. Hungary walked out yesterday.

This completed the latest phase of Assembly work on the Hungarian problem and the delegates will turn back to routine problems tomorrow.

After the Assembly adjourned, the U. N. published a communication from the Hungarian delegation formally notifying Hammarskjöld that Dec. 16 is not appropriate for him to visit Hungary and saying it will at a later date make a proposal for the purpose of reaching an agreement on his visit to Budapest.

Eight Killed In Plane Crash

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Dec. 12 (AP)—A Phillips Petroleum Co. executive and seven other employees were killed today when their plane crashed and exploded on a snowy ranch pasture.

Dead were A. M. Rippel, 61, manager of the company's natural gas division; C. W. Binkley, 45; William C. Reed, 37; Donald Young, 31; D. F. Mayfield, 49; George L. Sneed, 49; Joe Bower, 38, and R. E. Ulrich, 36.

Nehru Drops Adviser For Talk With Ike

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's most trusted adviser on foreign affairs is missing from the delegation to Nehru to assist him in his talks beginning here Sunday with President Eisenhower.

The reason for the omission of India's foremost diplomat—tall, graying, V. K. Krishna Menon, with the sharp tongue and the burning eyes—is obvious to diplomatic experts here. His inclusion as an official member of Nehru's delegation would almost have doomed the Nehru-Eisenhower talks to failure before they began.

Probably no other world figure, even including Russia's V. M. Molotov, arouses such criticism and bitterness in the upper levels of the United States government as Menon.

No Trust

Officials in the State Department do not trust the Indian diplomat. They consider him much too friendly with the Communists and think that on a number of occasions he has followed a pro-Communist line in the United Nations.

This view of Menon's activities, which puts the blame primarily on Menon himself, is not shared by all authorities here. Some are convinced that Nehru himself must be held ultimately responsible because, they say, Menon would not dare to do the things he has done unless he had Nehru's backing.

Interestingly enough he is not only an unpopular figure here but is reported to be disliked by many people in the government in New Delhi. The fact that he survives all criticism is evidence of his high standing with Nehru.

Nevertheless Nehru left him off the list released today by the White House and State Department. The chief advisers listed are Ambassador G. L. Mehta, regularly in Washington, and N. R. Pillai, secretary general of the Indian Foreign Office.

Among the men who know Menon best there is speculation he may show up in Washington anyway. He has a firm flare for turn-

Powers Agree On Strength

PARIS, Dec. 12 (AP)—North Atlantic Alliance leaders agreed tentatively today to strengthen the treaty organization with wider political and economic powers.

But Secretary of State Dulles served notice that the United States reserves full freedom of action in defense of its vital interests without consulting its NATO allies in advance.

A spokesman for the conference of NATO foreign ministers said they endorsed the outlines of recommendations by Halvard Lange of Norway, Gaetano Martino of Italy and Lester B. Pearson of Canada, members of a committee who have been studying political and economic possibilities for NATO.

But, the spokesman said, action on their recommendations was delayed by French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and West Germany's Heinrich von Brentano, who said they wanted to submit amendments.

A high NATO source said Dulles told the 14 other foreign ministers of NATO member countries it would be unfair to the 30 other nations with which the United States has mutual defense pacts if Washington could not act in other parts of the world without consulting NATO.

The report by Lange, Martino and Pearson—called NATO's "Three Wise Men"—recommended that "before any new policy is adopted which might affect NATO, or a political pronouncement is made, there should be consultations."

Dulles, the source said, told the closed ministerial meeting he approved of this principle and hoped it would be adopted. But, if taken literally, Dulles continued, this and another sentence stating "there cannot be unity in defense and disunity in foreign policy" both go too far.

Diplomats in the meeting were quick to point out that Dulles' statement appeared likely to cause a protest in view of U. S. resentment when Britain and France took military action against Egypt without prior consultation with the United States or any other NATO member.

SECRETARY OF STATE John Foster Dulles shakes hands with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau (right) as they get together in Paris for a top-level discussion of Suez Canal and Middle East problems.

Neither Pineau nor British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd was available for comment on Dulles' statement. One diplomatic source described it as "a new American declaration of independence in foreign policy."

U. S. sources said Dulles' remarks did not imply approval of Britain and France acting against Egypt without consulting NATO. They said the Allies were in consultation at the time of this action and it had been possible to give notice of that military move.

U. S. Urging Syria To Allow Repair Of Big Oil Pipeline

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The United States is reported urging the Syrian government to allow speedy repair of the big oil pipeline from Iraq which has been sabotaged in four key places in Syria.

American diplomats are understood to believe that by flying emergency supplies into Syria a 30 to 40 per cent flow of Iraq oil to the Mediterranean could be restored within two months.

This partial flow, when added to emergency oil shipments from the United States, would go a long way, it is believed, in helping Western Europe overcome the critical oil shortage now facing it.

Flow

About 550,000 barrels of crude oil daily flowed from the Iraq oil fields at Kirkuk across Syria to the Port of Banayon on the Mediterranean before Middle East fighting erupted six weeks ago.

To back up Egypt, four pumping stations, pushing oil along the 600 mile line, were blasted by Syria. Three of these are understood to have been completely wrecked and the fourth 75 per cent destroyed, shutting off the entire oil flow.

The American Embassy in Syria on instructions from the State Department, has now appealed for Syrian cooperation in arranging emergency repairs.

Information

Leverett Edwards, a member of the mediation board, said he proposed arbitration of the dispute but was turned down by representatives of the union at a meeting not attended by railroad representatives.

A spokesman for the railroads said they had not been informed of the union's rejection and declined to comment immediately.

The mediation board is expected to notify President Eisenhower that an emergency exists and to request appointment of a fact-finding board to investigate the dispute and make recommendations for a settlement.

Appointment of a presidential board would have the effect of staying a strike, if one was threatened, at least 60 days.

Japan Gains Admittance To Council

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—The Security Council today unanimously approved the admission of Japan as the 80th member of the U. N. It disapproved Communist outer Mongolia.

The Soviet Union, which had vetoed Japan's membership application four times in four years, withheld its veto this time.

The Council's recommendation in favor of Japan went to the General Assembly, where it is expected to be ratified by well over the necessary two-thirds vote Monday or Tuesday.

Delay

The Assembly will delay this action till Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu can arrive and address it. He is expected in New York Friday.

Shigemitsu and Soviet Vice Foreign Minister Nicolai Fedorenko exchanged documents in Tokyo today ratifying an Oct. 19 Moscow agreement to end the 11-year-old state of war between Japan and the Soviet Union. In connection with the agreement, Russia promised to back Japan for U. N. membership.

Ambassador Toshikazu Kase, Japan's permanent observer to the U. N., watched the vote from a back seat in the Council chamber and accepted congratulations from Council delegates later.

He said of the decision, "deep indeed is our gratification." He said admission to the U. N. had become for Japan a "national aspiration." He tendered "heartfelt gratitude" to countries that had supported Japan's application.

Seven White Men Acquitted

BUSHNELL, Fla., Dec. 12 (AP)—Seven white men today were acquitted of flogging Jesse Woods, a Negro, when the state's case collapsed. The chief prosecutor complained his main witnesses changed their stories.

It was a mass directed verdict of acquittal ordered by Circuit Judge T. G. Futch and came after state Atty. A. P. Buie asked that four of the seven accused be freed. The defense asked dismissal of the charges against the other three.

Failure

Futch said the state failed to prove the men were guilty of aggravated assault and false imprisonment of Woods, who was taken from the nearby Wildwood City jail and flogged Oct. 28. The Negro had been arrested on city charges and police said he made a "hello there, baby" remark to a white school teacher.

College Prank Results In Murder

CARBONDALE, Ill., Dec. 12 (AP)—A college prank that backfired sent a freshman to jail today on a charge of murdering a Southern Illinois University football star.

The victim was Robert Batura, 19, of Danvers, Mass., an SIU sophomore who started at end on the university's football team this fall.

Stroudsburg Firm To Design ESSTC Room

A STROUDSBURG architectural firm will design the new science classroom building to be erected at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Rinker and Kiefer received the award from the General State Authority in Harrisburg.

The award also includes the design for the extension of utility services and alterations to the boiler plant at the college.

GSA is planning a $975,500 program building and improvement program on the local campus. The science building will cost an estimated $350,000, while the extension of utility services and alterations to the boiler plant is expected to cost $95,500. Also planned is a library and administration building at an estimated $530,000 cost.

Director

K. R. Burke, acting executive director of GSA, said that with about 800 students enrolled in science classes at the college each semester, the facilities of Oaks Hall are inadequate.

Besides the science department, the hall also houses the English, social studies, mathematics, geography, education and health and physical education departments.

The new science building will be a two-story structure with a basement. The location and actual floor plan depend on the findings of a comprehensive campus study now being made at the college.

Utility extensions will tie in with borough water supply and sewage treatment systems. An additional boiler will be provided to take care of the expansion of the institution.

More than 900 toys were sent to Vienna to be distributed to refugee children.

Sew Pockets Shut

TOKYO, Dec. 12 (AP)—Police desk sergeants in northwest Tokyo were warned if they were caught standing around these cold mornings with hands in pockets they would be fined 30 yen (nine cents). Four sergeants took no chances. They showed up next day with their pockets sewed shut.

Stroud Union Board Holds Shortest Meeting In History

STROUD UNION SCHOOL BOARD held the shortest meeting in its history last night.

The meeting opened at 8:06. It was all over at 8:55. That was 49 minutes in all, and for the Stroud board it was at least an hour under par for the course.

Custodian

Stewart Pensyl was hired as Morey School custodian. Salary, $2,800. He will substitute for Stewart Storm, now hospitalized with a broken collarbone and injured ribs.

Board members granted the Pocono Mountains Art Group permission to use a room in the high school for its meetings. Routine reports were heard from committees.

Schools Must Prepare Now To Train More Teachers For Boom Enrollment

THE AVERAGE pay of factory workers in the United States is about $81 per week. The average pay of teachers in colleges and universities is about $20 more.

Teachers in the public schools make less, some of them a great deal less; so little in some areas that it is a wonder the authorities can keep the schools staffed.

Generally speaking, we get what we pay for. The fact that we are getting more than we are paying for our teachers is due solely to the dedication of those who place service above pay.

But it is fantastic to imagine that there are enough of such able and dedicated people to provide the teaching force we need, even in the immediate future.

Good teachers are leaving the profession every day to take jobs in other fields. Not nearly enough talented young people are preparing themselves to teach.

We are especially short in the vital fields of engineering and physics at the college level, and in mathematics in the high schools.

Russian Editor Gives His Views On 'Poisonous People's Capitalism'

OVER THE YEARS our State Department has paid the way of numerous foreign visitors to our country, on the theory that to see us in our native habitat is to love us.

In some cases we may have sparked a modicum of appreciation for our hospitality. But for the most part, experience suggests that whatever rosy optimism we may have is unjustified.

Latest evidence of this comes from Moscow, naturally. V. L. Kudryavstev, an editor of the official newspaper, Izvestia, was one of the Russian guests the State Department brought to our country in our recent election campaign.

Like others from his country, he came here with pre-conceived notions on which he based his conclusions. And what did he discover? That his pre-judgments were abundantly confirmed, and that what we have is "poisonous people's capitalism."

George Sokolsky Says...

Don Whitehead's Book, 'The FBI Story', Accurate Presentation Of Historic Facts

SOME YEARS ago a book appeared about the FBI written by one, Max Lowenthal, who is reputed to have master-minded the designation of Harry Truman as Vice President. It was an unfriendly book, representing not a research of the Federal Bureau of Investigation but a hatchet job on J. Edgar Hoover.

Now another book has been written about the FBI by a newspaperman, Don Whitehead, Washington correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune. The Whitehead book, entitled "The FBI Story," published by Random House, is a particularly valuable document as it gives much of the story of how this country evaded the dangers of establishing a national police force, because J. Edgar Hoover fought before committees of Congress against the invasion of the functions of the local police, state and municipal police, upon whom this country must depend for the maintenance of law and order.

Some readers will be interested in the cop and robber stuff, the history of which is, of course, given in the Whitehead book, but it does seem to me that the greatest value of this history of a government agency is that it documents a theory of the relations between the Federal government and the local governments as it applies to policing the country and secondly that it brings into high relief the personality of J. Edgar Hoover who, when so many in Washington were empire-building, sought for his own agency stringent limitations which would prevent it from becoming an oppressor of the people.

Hoover, himself, wrote an introduction to the Whitehead book in which he makes his point of view clear, particularly as regards subversives:

"The FBI is an action agency in securing facts, apprehending violators of Federal laws within its jurisdiction, and servicing law enforcement agencies. Once we gather the facts, apprehend the violator and provide our services to other agencies, our duty is fulfilled. We submit the results of our investigations to other officials of government. We neither evaluate the results of our investigations nor make recommendations. We do not inject ourselves into the administrative operations of other agencies of government by saying who is loyal and who is not loyal or who is a security risk or who is suitable for service in the Federal government. We merely report the facts."

It is the investigative character of the FBI that is important; what the administrative officials of the government or local officials do with the data brought together and placed at their disposal is not for the FBI to decide.

It is a startling fact that practically since its reorganization under J. Edgar Hoover, the FBI has been under attack, usually by some vested interest in crime or by those who believe that whatever misfortunes they have encountered in life are the result of an FBI investigation. Many government officials believe that

And the products of the great "baby boom" of the 1940s, now jamming our grade schools, soon will hit the high schools and colleges like a tidal wave.

If we are not prepared for them, with enough competent and adequately paid teachers, the country will pay dearly for our false economy.

For one thing, the colleges themselves must do something to attract the best high school graduates into the teaching profession.

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College is sharing in a $750,000 building program about to be drafted by the General State Authority. Total expenditures here are estimated at $975,500.

When completed, the new buildings will permit the local college to admit more students who wish to train as teachers. Other colleges, by similarly expanding their facilities, will be in a position to accommodate the growing number of young people who are needed to teach our youngsters.

What makes it a "people's capitalism" apparently is because we have vast numbers of workers who hold stock in corporations. This he does not view as a pooling of savings to create goods-producing and job-producing enterprises, from which workers enjoy a share of profits. To our Russian editor it is nothing but a slick scheme to tie the workers to the corporations, thus making them obedient.

The fancy meanderings of the Russian mind are difficult to follow. Probably what Editor Kudryavstev was thinking was how fickle of him it would be if he were to editorialize in his government's paper advocating such a system in Russia. He knows full well that then he would learn how really "poisonous" a free enterprise system can be. There'd be times in Siberia when he'd wish he'd taken the poison instead of advocating it for Russia.

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE Airlines Are Plagued By Unused Reservations

Airlines in this country have a delicate problem hanging above their administrative heads—unused reservations.

Only one out of three reservations is honored by passengers booking space, according to a sales executive of one large airline.

This means that a huge clerical staff (almost 300) whose only work is reserving space, functions at one-third effectiveness. Nearly 200 of these courteous and capable folk merely spin their propellers.

Interminable details must be checked to accommodate prospective flight passengers. Connecting flights at distant terminals may be arranged, car rentals may be booked at destinations. Hours may be spent—uselessly, if the reservation is unclaimed at the last moment, more often than not, too late to release the space for someone flying on an emergency mission.

Business men, who make up 70 per cent of regular flights, are old familiars with this situation: The boss decides on a quick trip to Mexico or Chicago or anywhere he ain't right then. "Get me on the next plane!" he cries. But the airlines are booked solid. Maybe a week from next Tuesday? If the boss is acquainted with the "no-show" situation, he may go to the airport anyway, pick up a last-minute unclaimed reservation and go aboard.

Sometimes he finds the plane half empty.

Airlines built their multi-million dollar business on extra service. The customer was not only right, he was precious, a tin god to be wooed and pampered by attentions provided by airlines alone.

Luggage? Don't trouble your head about such trifles. Heavy suitcases were whisked off by tipless gremlins, appearing later, beside a waiting limousine at journey's end. Unless it somehow wound up in Kansas City where its irate owner combed the runways in Los Angeles. Delicious dinners, cocktails for free, even wee ones' bottles were warmed in this service extraordinary. And the more people got to like this plush treatment, the more plush treatment they liked.

It became too easy to make reservations, then ignores them. Oddly enough, business men are the worst offenders. It is common practice for a busy man to book himself on four or five flights out of Washington, D. C., for instance, eventually using whichever best suits his convenience. He as often forgets or doesn't bother to cancel the remaining space.

Airlines recognize the plight of their best customers, business men, who cannot always appear at designated times. Detained later or free earlier, they use plane service as they would trolley cars, catching the one that comes along when they are ready to go.

Some alternatives are these: Airlines may require payment in advance for space reserved; they may exact penalties to be paid for reservations unclaimed without prior notice; or some may operate without any reservations at all.

It's a puzzle, all right. Maybe passengers might help out a bit by honoring their promise to be on hand to use the space they asked for.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

Richard Armour tells about a monk who persists in running away from his monastery. An obvious case of claustrophobia... A gardener who took care of Alex Gottlieb's lawn in Hollywood fell into the swimming pool. Alex left him there, too—just so he could tell the boys at the studio his was the only place in town with a sunken gardener... Gloria DeHaven, late for lunch, alibied, "According to the clock at the bank, I was right on the dot." "That doesn't prove a thing," scoffed the date. "We call that the bank where the wild time grows"... Buck Robbins was present when nine hoods, wiped out in a gangland shooting fray, were buried together in one big, inexpensive coffin. "The cops simply put all their yeggs in one basket."

Daily Record, Stroudsburg, Pa. Dear Editor:

Christmas is here again. Christmas is the voice of God speaking through the birth of His Son, and like the story of Elijah, this voice does not come to us in the fire, the earthquake or the wind, but in the quiet of the night, in the still small voice. Christmas is most of all a state of mind, a quality of the heart, and without a proper conditioning of the heart, it will pass entirely obliterated and lost in the shuffle and noise of a great commercial surge—buying and selling in the market place, leaving the Christ Child and the manger in the background.

Let us condition ourselves in this Advent season to receive the Christ anew in our hearts. May we fill our hearts with a deep compassion for our fellow man everywhere an undying love that remains the same yesterday, today and forever.

May we never consider race, color, creed, social or financial status when our fellow man is in need. May we hope and pray for a great resurgence in man's desire to seek peace with his fellow man, still all animalistic tendencies and the desire for conquest in all men.

May we be satisfied with the plain and simple life and know that love alone can bring us peace and set us free.

For our life, our happiness, our success does not consist in the abundance of the things which we possess but rather in their quality.

May we count our blessings as this Christmas Season approaches, as we rest by the soft glow of our fireside and enjoy the comfort of our home.

May those of us that know give unstintingly of our thought, our love, our time to alleviate the suffering and sadness in our community, for those of us that have much must give more than those who know not how to give and therefore forfeit their claim to the greatest happiness on earth—the joy of giving.

May we in our own little way, here in these beautiful Pocono Mountains amid God's great handiwork, spread this beautiful and old, old story of love, peace on earth, good will toward men.

Russia Resumes Shipping War Materiel To Egypt

Washington, Dec. 12 — Russia is again sending large quantities of arms to Egypt.

Shipsloads of Red weapons and parts, for planes, tanks and other military vehicles and equipment, are arriving as Britain, France and Israel are withdrawing their forces from Egypt.

As in the past, most of these armaments are of Czechoslovakian make.

Also more Soviet officers, pilots, mechanics and technicians are showing up in Egypt. One general is known to be among these additions.

This sinister rearming of Egypt is one phase of these war-breeding operations in the Middle East. The Kremlin is also continuing to pour weapons into Syria and other Arab countries, and pressing enticing offers of them on Libya, Sudan and Liberia.

This intensified Russian war-mongering is in direct violation of the United Nations' historic resolution ordering a cease-fire in Egypt.

As proposed by the U.S. and adopted by the General Assembly, by a 64 to 5 vote, this resolution pronounced two edicts: Britain, France and Israel to immediately halt their hostilities; and all UN members to cease shipping arms to the inflamed region.

Russia and its satellites heartily supported and voted for this resolution.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff view these developments with greatest concern as a two-fold danger: Inciting a new and greater conflict in the Middle East; and enabling Russia to gain economic domination of the undeveloped Arab countries.

This latter menace has become particularly disturbing to the President's top military advisers. They have made a special report on it to him.

This new form of Soviet infiltration and subversion is one of the major subjects being discussed by NATO military leaders with the 15 NATO foreign ministers at their annual conference now in progress in Paris.

General Alfred Gruenther, former NATO commander, is stressing this ominous problem in talks with authorities in the State and Defense Departments and Congress.

He is bluntly urging immediate forceful counter measures.

"Fiendish Toy" — The Joint Chiefs' special report to the President and General Gruenther's stern recommendations are highly classified. But what these key leaders are thinking and advising regarding this profoundly alarming situation is graphically indicated by certain comments made by Assistant Defense Secretary Gordon Gray in an unpublished talk in New York.

The former University of North Carolina head, who is in charge of international affairs for the Defense Department, made this revealing address to a group of prominent businessmen. Gray emphasized two points:

Russia has immense stockpiles of World War II weapons which it wants to get rid of. It is using this "fiendish toy" as a new form of economic imperialism.

Following are publishable highlights of Secretary Gray's significant remarks:

"Because of the continuous and massive scale of the modernization of Russian military forces and those of her satellites, there have become available immense quantities of somewhat obsolete but still very effective arms and equipment. Their value to Communism's armed forces is relatively small. But these stocks of second-hand and out-dated armaments make a fiendish toy in the hands of the Communist leaders; a fiendish toy which they can use where they will be most disruptive to the free world.

"Arms deals with nations like Egypt, Syria and other Afro-Asian countries are doubly dangerous because they are effected through barter for the primary products of these undeveloped countries and on which their livelihood largely depends.

"Thus at one turn, the Communists are putting weapons into countries and areas of inflamed dissension and disruption, and at the same time are making the recipients of these war-breeding armaments dependent upon the Communists for spare parts and more ammunition. The consequence is the creation of lasting economic dependence upon the Soviet bloc.

"The free world is confronted with a new Communist tactic by which they are using their arms to further a subtle form of economic imperialism through creating economic dependence on the Soviet and its satellites. This is one of the grimmest immediate military threats that we now face.

"It is no exaggeration to say that the solution of this dire and complex and dangerous problem will strain the wisdom, loyalties and foresightedness of all of us who are involved: the U.S. and all the other free world powers, but most importantly of all, the less developed nations which are being so persuasively and ominously tempted by the Communists."

Note: One of the first things British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd said to Secretary Dulles in Paris was, "Whatever else we do, we must not permit Russia to successfully violate the UN resolution banning shipments of arms to Egypt and the other Arab countries. If we allow the Soviet to get away with that, then the future is truly bleak."

Flashes — The World Bank will play a leading role in Prime Minister Nehru's talks with the President and other top officials next week. The Indian leader will try to persuade them to induce the Bank to grant a $200,000,000 loan for a new five-year industrial expansion plan. Up to now the Bank has been cold to that on two grounds: The plan is not sound economically, and India is not doing enough to encourage foreign investments. Eugene Black, Bank President, frankly stated this in a letter to Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari. "We feel we will have to consider the pace and scale of further loan operations in India in the light of economic conditions and taking into consideration the economic policies pursued by your government."

On Broadway —by Walter Winchell

We wing'd to Vegas (after our Sabbath evening newscast in Hollywood) to see a former sponsor... When you are in Las Vegas the first must-spot is Wilbur Clark's famed Desert Inn... Where we borrowed a putter and sank three 18-footers and then proceeded to El Rancho, where (while waiting for Liza Kirk to confirm our Persian Room comments) we wagered $25 on the pass-line — made an 8 for the point — backed it up with another $25 — plus ten on the hard-8 and with the next throw made it... The hard-way... We picked up the loot and fled into the theater... Later to the attractive Alpine Village for delicious pot roast (mit potato pancakes), then to the Silver Slipper for the hilariously comical show, which we once reported was "too sinful for Broadway"... It now has too much class... Howard Hughes gets a holy free ad for his airline via the sets and eye-drawing show-girls in TWA uniforms.

The Silver Slipper frolic is girlish and vaudeville as many of us in show-business know it... Entertainers from the opposition spots roll in the aisles at the comics — chief'd by Hank Henry, who will be in "The Joker Is Wild" film, the Joe E. Lewis film-biog... A very funny fellow... The supporting cast is big-time, too... Barbara McNair, frinstance... A good-looking girl with an ease that Perry Como will envy... Miss McNair belongs in a Broadway show... Such as Harold Arlen's planned girlie-starring Belafonte... Princess Yasmina is the best dancer in her field. Swift, sensuous torso-tossing... Cliff & Judy Ferre are a good-looking man-and-girl team. They must have recalled George M. Cohan's counsel: "Too many people try to stop the show instead of keeping it going"... No stage-wail for Cliff and Judy... He wrote the gay wordage to the new song hit, "The Money Tree." Scads of recording stars are making it famous.

Ted Lewis stars at Desert Inn. Next stop the Sombroso Theater, Phoenix. Ted's album, "My Shadow & Me," is a corker. In January he will have another. Featuring Gus Edwards' ditties—including "If I Was a Millionaire," one of the first songs we boy-tenor'd with the Newsboys' Sextette in Mr. Edwards' first song revue in 1910... L.

Kiwanis Plays Host To Key Club

STROUDSBURG Kiwanis Club played host to members of the Key Club, a group of outstanding boy students at Stroud Union High School, at yesterday's Kiwanis meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Kurt Wimer, Key Club adviser, spoke on the purpose of the organization, which is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, and told his fellow Kiwanians they could perform a real function in helping the young men choose their life's profession.

A number of members have appeared before the Key Clubbers as guidance counselors and others will be asked to appear later.

Brief Talk

William Kedgey, Key Club president, spoke briefly in appreciation for what Kiwanis had done for the boys. He introduced these other officers: Barry Tretheway, vice president; Earl Budge, secretary, and George Steinhauer, treasurer.

Other Key Clubbers present were James Welsh, Neil White, Robert Adlemann, John Fuller, Larry Van Why, Richard Swingle, Donald Hickey, James Marsh, Robert Haigh, William Roeder, Edward Hermann, Earl Evey, Jerry Ifft, Douglas Jones, Peter Fasino, James Groner, John Kintz and Byron Glover.

William P. Wells presided at the meeting. Alfred W. Munson, Stroud Union High School principal, gave a brief resume of Key Club activities.

Prior to the program, four Kiwanians who had previously been received into membership were formally installed by Dr. C. W. Dupee. They were William E. Gorton, John F. Hill, Daniel Miller and Nevin Naumakker.

Economy Humming

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP) — Record consumer spending has helped keep the economy humming into the last quarter of the year, the Commerce Department reported today.

Spurring the economy upward at this season have been these record developments, the department said:

The gross national product, or total output of goods and services, rose to an annual rate of 414 billion dollars in the third quarter. This was up 5 1/2 billion from the second quarter, and was continuing into the fourth quarter.

Income

Personal income hit a new peak annual rate of 327 billion dollars, up more than 4 billion, and disposable personal income after taxes was at a new high of more than 288 billion.

Employment on nonfarm jobs set a seasonally adjusted high of 51,800,000 in October; with the transportation equipment industry leading the way in increases of factory production workers.

The report said that as a result of these and other factors, the output of goods has continued high, demand for goods has not let down, costs of production have gone up and prices have advanced in many lines.

The figures showed industry still seeking to expand in the fourth quarter as unfilled orders of manufacturers rose 6 per cent in the third quarter.

One-Third Of Goal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP) — The American Red Cross said today it has collected about one-third of its five million dollar Hungarian relief goal.

Eight Inmates Escape From Annandale Reform School

By The Associated Press

IRON BARS DO NOT a prison make, red-faced New Jersey authorities were convinced Thursday.

Prisoners or inmates were absent without leave from the N. J. Reformatory at Annandale, the state Home for Boys at Jamestown, and Cumberland County Jail at Bridgeton.

State police patrols in the west central part of the state were doubled Wednesday in a search for the eight Annandale inmates who bent a grill on a basement window Tuesday night and escaped.

Shortly after the break, two vehicles were reported stolen in the area: A car and a station wagon, said a loaded shotgun was in the trunk of the auto.

Troopers Armed

State troopers armed themselves with shotguns.

At Jamesburg, an unvalued correctional institution, one of the 11 boys who fled the home last Friday was brought in by police yesterday. But that left two still out of the large group and another boy who ran away with a since-caught pal Monday.

State and local police kept roadblocks up all day yesterday in the area around Newton in hopes of catching Ernest Castimore, 30, of R.D. 3, Easton, Pa.

Castimore, facing sentencing on breaking, entering and larceny charges, slugged Warden Gilbert Cosner with a mop handle last night, locked him in the cell, and fled.

A 15-state alarm was issued for both Castimore and for Clearthur Rainey, 18, of Norfolk, Va., one of four prisoners who sawed their way out of the "maximum security" part of Cumberland County Jail Sunday.

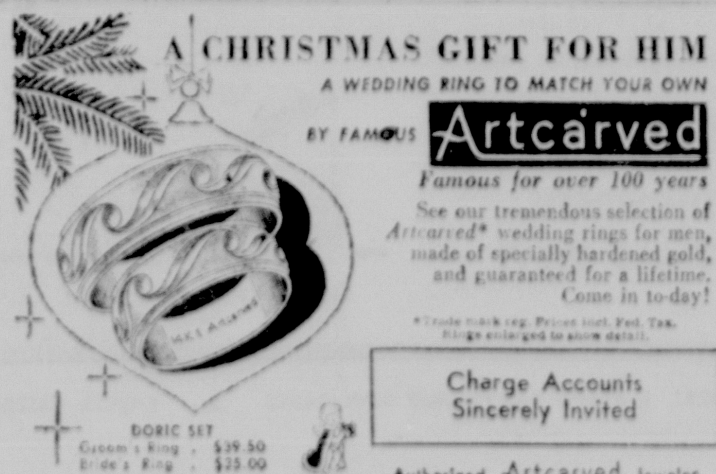

The other three were recaptured but Rainey was still missing yesterday as Cumberland Freeholder Edgar Hand, chairman of the jail committee, announced he had met twice with Capt. Art Edmunds of the N.J. Department of Institutions and agencies in an effort to prevent another escape.

Firemen Halt Truck Blaze

BARTONSVILLE — Pocono Township firemen yesterday extinguished a fire which caused slight damage to a truck operated by Harold Brownell and owned by the Richards Motor Freight Co. of Scranton.

Fire officials said the blaze occurred when the brakes became overheated and set fire to a tire on Route 12, about a mile south of Bartonsville.

The puma, panther, cougar, catamount, mountain lion, American lion are all the same animal.

Voters Favor Amendment To Constitution

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12 (AP) — Pennsylvania voters gave a 175,000-vote margin in favor of an amendment to the state Constitution simplifying procedure for financing private corporations.

The state Elections Bureau completed the official count today on the amendment vote as well as the vote for candidates of statewide offices. The vote in favor of the amendment was 705,367 to 526,097.

The new provision eliminates a previous requirement for a 60-day notice of a stockholders' meeting called to increase a firm's indebtedness or to sell a stock issue.

The Election Bureau also completed the official count of these contests for statewide offices.

Supreme Court

Two justices of the Supreme Court were elected but Judge Benjamin R. Jones, Republican, and Atty. Gen. Herbert B. Cohen were without opposition. That conformed to a constitutional provision that each party shall nominate only one candidate when there are two vacancies on the high court. The official count was Jones, 2,04,931 and Cohen, 2,084,430.

The official count for other statewide offices with Republicans elected:

Auditor General: Charles C. Smith, 2,331,733; Francis R. Smith, Democrat, 2,129,007.

State Treasurer: Robert F. Kent, 2,345,509; James W. Knox, Democrat, 2,130,413.

Bridge Project In Pike

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12 (AP) — The state Highways Department today called for bids Jan. 4 on highway construction and rehabilitation projects in these counties:

Pike—construct a bridge over Wilson Creek on Route 390.

Susquehanna — Construct 5.64 miles of Route 92.

Wayne—Construct an arch over Wallenpaupack Creek on Route 390.

Daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hinton, Bangor.

Admissions

Mrs. Susan Adams, East Stroudsburg; Elwood Heller, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Pocono Summit; Charles Palmer, Pen Argyl; Mrs. Rosa Brush, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Catherine Parsons, Long Beach, Cal.; Edward Singer, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Sonia Gray, Mount Bethel.

Discharges

Mrs. Berneda DeSanto, and daughter, Stroudsburg, RD 3; Mrs. Janet Garrity, and daughter, Stroudsburg; Kenneth Jones, Pocono Pines; Mrs. Ruth Walz, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Myrtle Bentzoni, Stroudsburg; George Heller, Stroudsburg, RD 1; Carson Arns, Bushkill; Walker Eyer, Portland.

Results

"We have also received results from smaller centers in New York State, including Port Jervis and Buffalo, and other sections of Pennsylvania," he added. "Also high on the list of returns are suburban areas of Maryland, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey and Ohio."

Strunk further disclosed his office keeps a 365-day detailed check on the results obtained from advertising.

"Hundreds of daily inquiries are zoned so as to give the office an indication from which particular newspaper the inquiry originated," he said.

"By far the most significant results are those obtained from features and straight news releases issued by the vacation bureau," he added.

"In all instances," he continued, "the results from direct news releases have paralleled the results from paid advertising."

ESSTC Newman Club Presents Christmas Party For Residents Of Monroe County Home

By Leonard Randolph

MOST OF THE men and women in the room were old.

They sat in the straight-backed chairs allotted to them and watched silently and unsmiling as the young people came into the room.

The young men and women were students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. They were also members of the Newman Club, a basically non-denominational discussion group which holds regular meetings in the auditorium at St. Matthew's Parochial School.

There was the customary flurry of adjustment which occurs when a large number of persons congregate in any room. The older men and women sat silently through this, too, waiting for the "program" to begin.

It was nothing elaborate. The students had made the trip to the Monroe County Home to sing Christmas carols for its inmates and to distribute gifts for the older people in the home.

Santa Claus

They had brought along their own Santa Claus. It was apparent, from the beginning, that the red and white uniform didn't quite fit.

There was little response from the audience as the program began. With a brief introduction by Father John Esseff, the students began to sing. The slow, hushed reverence of "Silent Night" flooded through the room and spilled out into the hallways where small groups of employees stood listening.

When it was finished, Fr. Esseff apologized briefly for the non-professional aspects of the performance, emphasizing that these young people sang together because they liked singing. He joked with the accompanist. In the back of the room, Fr. Francis Barrett watched with a smile as the group began to sing again.

Abruptly — after "O, Come All Ye Faithful" and "O Little Town Of Bethlehem" — the students switched to a "lovely, bright and cheerful song" called "Deck The Halls With Boughs of Holly." The mood and the climate of the audience changed, too. On the right, the rough, rock-scaffold foot of an intently-peering man began to tap in time with the music. A younger woman on the left smiled and moved her beribboned head heartily in rhythm. When it was over, the applause was more full and it lasted longer.

There were more songs. And, at last, the audience began to join in. One of the members of the chorus found extra copies of the words, printed on mimeographed sheets, and the priest passed them out. Three women declined to accept the sheets, saying that they "couldn't sing." "Neither can we," said the priest, "but we do any-

Slate Belt Jointure Hears Report

ROSETO — Members of the new interim seven-district-Slate Belt Jointure heard a surprising report last night that Lower Mount Bethel Independent School Board is seriously considering joining with them.

Until now host local board members had felt that LMBI might join with the proposed Easton area combination. Independent district children are now sent to the Easton area schools.

If LMBI joined with the other districts in the Slate Belt this would raise its total number of members boards to eight. This would be in exact accord with the education plan approved by the county school board and the State Department of Public Instruction.

Instruction

At last night's meeting joint board members, with president Marvin DePamphilis, Bangor, in charge, also instructed Superintendent Donald B. Keat to write to the State Department of Public Instruction and request a tentative budget of operation costs, using figures now available for the separate districts, but projected into a joint system.

Keat was also instructed to write to Lower Mount Bethel Independent formally inviting that district to join the Slate Belt board and attend a discussion meeting with them.

A report at the meeting showed that the independent district had been told by Easton school officials to "make up its mind" about joining the school set up there by Feb. 1.

Also under discussion at last night's meeting were three plans under which the local jointure may enter a building program.

Round pencil lead has been used only since 1876; before that, leads were square.

We can submit excellent plans for Special Structures as Mausoleums, grave covers, or any "custom work" you may desire.

REMEMBRANCE IS A GIFT—This is the Santa Claus who distributed gifts from Newman Club members to inmates at Monroe County Home Tuesday night. Behind the mask and the padding was a young girl who is a member of the club. Its members are students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. They sang carols for the older men and women.

The chorus members encountered. To many of the older persons in the room, the idea that this Santa Claus was a young girl came as a surprise. Yet they made no comments on it and only one or two of them smiled at the fallacy.

When the gifts had been distributed, the most soprano St. Nick ever laughed.

Presents

Santa Claus came back in, carrying a cloth bag filled with presents. The voice (belonging ostensibly to Santa Claus) which read the names of those on the list was probably the most soprano St. Nick ever

'Angelaire's' Show Signs Of 'Genius' During Community Concert In College Auditorium

By Leonard Randolph

IT SEEMS to me that anyone who can make Claude Debussy's much-abused "Clair de Lune" seem fresh and exciting has more than a small touch of genius.

That, believe it or not, is precisely what five lovely young ladies who call themselves "The Angelaire's" succeeded in doing last night in the second Community Concert at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College auditorium.

Under ordinary circumstances, a reviewer would face the prospect of not one but five lady harpists with fear and trembling. The harp is generally thought of in terms of light, delicate and rather hazy music drifting through a blue-sky background and accompanied by buxom ballerinas who are part of the usual movie Technicolor dream sequence.

Last night there was no touch of the over-romantic in what "The Angelaire's" had to say. It was, as a matter of fact, the finest concert in my memory at the local auditorium—for selection of material, versatility of its artists and musical fidelity.

The harpists were at their best, I thought, in two of Debussy's preludes, "Dances de Delphes" and "Voiles" and Bach's "Sixth French Suite". The former is ideally suited to the harp and its fragmentary, nearly brittle impressions have never been more eloquently interpreted. The Bach suite, written for harpsichord, was played in such a way that it sounded as though it were being played on the original instrument.

This brings me to one of the most important things about "The Angelaire's" as performing artists: They know their instruments so well that they have succeeded in giving them an amazing versatility. In Ernesto Lecocq's "Mala-guena", for example, the throbbing, vibrant strum of a guitar crept into the performance unnoticed. In an excellent "Stephen Foster Medley", played without any concession to the material, most of the audience would have sworn, I'm sure, that one of the girls was playing a banjo. And the group brought an authentic, small-harp air to "O'Donnell A'Boo", the Irish folk song on their program.

They brought freshness to Felix Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song", too, and that strikes me as being wholly unique. In "Greensleeves", "That Old Black Magic" and Paul Soffray's "Variations on the French Folk Song, Au Clair de la lune", the harpists were equally at home.

It was in George Gershwin's "Prelude No. 2", however, that I felt "The Angelaire's" met, accepted and triumphed over a challenge. This prelude, written in the neo-jazz style for which Gershwin is famous but which still represents his most nearly "classical" approach to composition, was a brilliant color dream sequence.

Testimony Ruled Out

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12 (AP)—Testimony by a witness for railroad interests which contended that more and heavier trucks are causing increased damage to the nation's highways was ruled out today as "not germane" to a pair of antitrust suits being heard jointly in U.S. District Court here.

On an appeal by the truckers' counsel, Harold E. Kohn, Judge Thomas J. Clary agreed that the testimony was not relevant. Another prospective witness was barred for the same reason.

The Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. and 37 member firms have filed an antitrust suit against the Eastern Railroads Presidents Conference and 31 carriers for 250 million dollars. The defendants in turn filed a countersuit for 120 million.

Richard T. Cash was barred from testifying when C. Brewster Rhoads, one of the railroad attorneys, told the court Cash would discuss ways in which heavier trucks had added to the cost of building present-day roads.

Things were in perfect order last night onstage. In the audience—as it seems there must always be—there was a minor distraction.

This time it was a charming young lady seated to the right of me across the aisle in the rear row. Although appearing perfectly intent on the music and what was happening onstage, this young lady had apparently developed an inordinate fondness for the mechanical customs associated with the operation of ballpoint pens.

As most people know, this involves the pushing down of a button at the top to expose the point and a similar action to cause it to recede into its plastic tube. The accompanying click can be highly entertaining. In the middle of Bach, it lent a percussive by-product which I found not totally suited to the mood or the rhythm of the music.

The young lady left midway through the second half of the program and I hope that, wherever she may be this morning, she's having a clicking and retracting good time of it.

Canadensis Man Fined

HAROLD F. PUGL, Canadensis, was fined $100 and costs, and sentenced to one year in jail, after he pleaded guilty in Monroe County Court yesterday to a charge of driving while his license was under suspension.

Music Club Cards Set To Music

Christmas cards not only came to life but burst into song at the meeting of the Music Study Club of the Stroudsburg on Tuesday night at the Stroud Community House.

The program featured club carols, songs by the Decemettes of Stroudsburg High School under the direction of Numa Snyder, solos by club members with the whole woven into a story by Mrs. Edward C. Hess who served as narrator.

As a grandmother looking over her Christmas cards she prepared the way for the tableaux of cards. For the Santa Claus scene the Decemettes sang "Santa Claus is Coming to Town." Wanda Metzgar and Mary Ann Cincotta dressed as carollers sang a duet.

Illustrating the Christmas Bells card was Mrs. Merlin Rutt who played an arrangement in chimes. Christmas Candles featured Miss Susan Warner, in "No Candle was There," with Mrs. Fred Quig as accompanist. Posing as shepherds were Bruce Shinn, Boyd Weiss and Burnett Clark, while the Decemettes sang "White Shepherds Watched their Flocks by Night."

As the Madonna Mrs. John McConnell sang "Sleep, Little Jesus Boy" with Mrs. Donald Robbins Sr. as accompanist. Closing card was a church scene with the Decemettes singing, "Let Our Gladness Know No End."

Decemettes this year are JoAnn Putnam, Giovanna De Renzis, Abbie Jane Frisbie, Wanda Metzgar, Stacey Ace, Mary Ann Cincotta, Margie Hermanns, Carol Dietrick, Barbara LaBar, with Nancy Hartman as accompanist.

Mrs. John Fisher told the story of the hymn-of-the-month, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" by Sir Phillips Brooks.

Refreshments and a social hour followed the program.

Society Of 28th, Auxiliary At Legion Home Sun.

Gateway Post, 56, and Auxiliary, Society of the 28th Division will hold a Christmas meeting on Sunday at 2 p. m. at the American Legion Home. Sarah Franz is chairman of the planned supper to be served after the meetings.

There will be three grab-bags with one dollar gifts for men of the post, one dollar gifts for women of the auxiliary and a 25 cent grab bag for the children. Secret pals will reveal their identities with $2 gifts.

It has also been announced that the venison dinner planned for Saturday night has been cancelled.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Decking the hall with boughs of holly is a right popular occupation these days, both at home and abroad. Next to that comes Christmas cookies. From the looks of the tea tables at clubs, circles and societies, the families of the members are going to have to grab fast to get any cookies for themselves at all. Of course they can always count on the broken ones, underdone or overdone ones, and the crumbs.

But back to our decorating. One popular idea this year seems to be window and mirror designs put on with a stencil and window cleaner. At the present stage of my preparations it would seem much more practical to just smear the window cleaner on all the windows and mirrors and not take it off. Then each guest could freehand his own Christmas decorations on it. With enough visitors, the windows ought to be pretty well clean by New Year's Day.

You know, I've come to the conclusion that I'm not alone in my household follies. Since confessing about the junk in the buffet drawers, more women have shared with me their own particular horde of sentimental accouters.

Of if they didn't tell me, their husbands did. Apparently it's a rare soul who can ruthlessly discard things that have outlived their usefulness. Well, if you've got a big house, it doesn't matter, except making more work at house-cleaning time.

Much more serious is how some of us cling to our outworn opinions and prejudices. They make such a clutter in the mind that it's difficult to get out the ideas we need to be using.

Foltz Talks On Mental Health At PTA

A speech by Irving W. Foltz, teacher of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, highlighted the PTA meeting at Clearview School Monday night. Topic was "Mental Health In Early Childhood."

Foltz listed five critical periods of adjustments in life: early childhood; early school years; adolescence; marriage; and getting and holding a job.

Attitudes are no more than feelings he said and early childhood feelings are important for the child to gain feelings about himself and how other people feel about him.

Feelings develop personality traits, a sense of security, the feeling of being wanted, and a sense of adequacy.

In order to help children over the early childhood adjustment period, mothers and fathers should not be in competition with each other for the care and affection of the child. Parents should be careful of nagging and offer praise more often. They should guard against being over-protective; or domineering; or neglectful. They should become interested in the child's world and the child's works, and teach the child self-reliance, he emphasized.

In the business meeting conducted by President Russell Pritchard, it was reported that Clearview PTA now has 375 members.

Principal Ralph Knauf reported that Clearview now has the assistance of Mrs. Reagen, librarian, to help in the establishment of the new library and that the school also received its first shipment of books.

Mrs. Elwood German and Edwin Buck reported on the PTA county council meeting. The county council approved of local units making a study of civic affairs and taking a stand either for or against issues which will affect any child.

The success of the recent rummage sale was reported by Mrs. Edward Katz, chairman. Attendance awards were achieved by Mrs. James Thomas and Mrs. Norman Dietrick's rooms. Ralph Knauf and Roger Dunning answered questions on the new report cards.

Refreshments were served by the refreshment committee.

Republican Women Hear Ramsey Chorus

Highlighting the state convention held recently, Mrs. Foster Minnich yesterday reported to the Monroe Council of Republican Women at their meeting held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. Politics as a year-round job for every citizen, the rise of young leaders in the Republican party, and the importance of individual participation were emphasized.

The Pennsylvania State Council now has a membership of 57,225 members, she reported, a gain of 12,000 since last year.

The program at the meeting featured the Ramsey Elementary School Chorus under the direction of Miss Alice Bellairs with Miss Jean Igler as accompanist.

Tea was served from a table decorated with a musical Christmas tree centerpieces. Hostesses were Mrs. Spencer Cramer, Mrs. Leonard Griffin, Mrs. Bert Grosbeck, Mrs. William Gorman, Mrs. Arthur Grotz, Mrs. Clifford Heller, Mrs. Paul Lloyd and Mrs. Bernard Peters.

The entertainment, scheduled as the third in the series of package deals sponsored by the Sisterhood of the Temple Israel, has been cancelled. Lou Mason, radio and television entertainer, who was to have appeared Saturday night at the Temple will be presented at a later date.

Church Parties Planned By Altar, Rosary

Brookheadsville — Christmas plans were discussed at the meeting of the Altar and Rosary Society of the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady Queen of Peace.

The Christmas party was set for Dec. 23 at 5 p. m. in the church auditorium. The women will attend to the table and hall decorations, and a covered dish supper will be served. The entertainment will feature a play by the children, directed by Rev. Robert Galligan. Mrs. Ruskin obtained the material for costumes being made by Dollie Azur, Mrs. Ruskin and Mrs. Warknen, Mrs. Rose Talpas, Mrs. Dorothy Muller and Mrs. Marie Schultz will purchase gifts for Santa to distribute to the children, and Mrs. Marie Mondrick will purchase table favors. Mrs. Grace Kozie is in charge of the children's play.

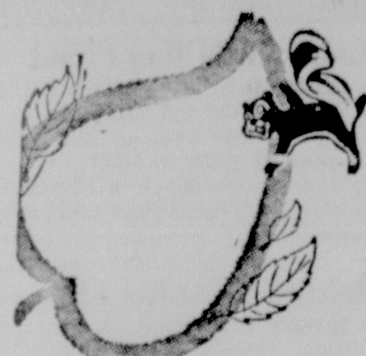

The secret pals of the Altar and Rosary Society will hold a party after mass on Wednesday, Dec. 19. Secret pals will be revealed and gifts will be exchanged. Mrs. Esther Beckman will provide ice cream and Mrs. Grace Kozie and Mrs. Ella Warknen will bring cake.

In addition the Society voted to purchase a statue of the Pilgrim Virgin so that it can visit every parishioner's home. Rev. Robert Galligan spoke on the apparition of Our Lady at Knock, Ireland, in 1879, and explained the use of the Advent Wreath in preparing the family for Christmas Day.

Members have been asked by the Catholic Deaconry to join in prayer for the peace of the world by reciting the rosary daily and receiving communion each Sunday. It was reported by Mrs. Dollie Azur and Mrs. Marie Schultz, parish councilors, in reporting on the recent Deaconry meeting. They also reported the establishment of a telephone tree.

Hostesses for the January meeting will be Mrs. Bertha Held, Mrs. Esther Beckman, and Mrs. Ella Warknen. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Azur, Mrs. Schultz and Mrs. Evelyn Young.

Like to improvise in the kitchen? Bake that broiled chicken with a mixture of soy sauce, sugar and a suspicion of ground ginger or nutmeg. Add a clove of crushed garlic if you like that flavor.

League Of Women Voters Gets Go-Ahead At Meeting

Permission has been granted for the formation of a local provisional chapter of the League of Women Voters. At a pre-organization meeting held at the East Stroudsburg High School on Tuesday night, Mrs. Bernard Ostrolenk of the Pennsylvania state board of the League, explained the purposes and steps in organization of a local league.

Interested women from the Stroudsburgs, Hamilton, Smithfield, Stroud and Pike County attended the meeting. Since the majority present were from East Stroudsburg and its adjoining townships the provisional chapter will be called the League of Women Voters of East Stroudsburg.

All women of voting age within the county or its neighborhood are to be encouraged to join, it was emphasized. All members join the League of Women Voters of the United States and as such work on common goals in the county, state and national interest.

Since the League is an action group, Mrs. Ostrolenk explained, Leagues are organized for the smallest practical political subdivision, so that on the local level they can work effectively in studying local problems.

The League of Women Voters is a non-political organization to encourage informed citizen participation in government on all levels, she explained.

The date for the next meeting has been set for Tuesday, Jan. 29. Mrs. Elmer Veety served as temporary chairman of the meeting. Temporary chairmen for organization, appointed from the floor, include Mrs. Charles McMahon, nominating committee; Mrs. Philip Hardaker, by-laws; Mrs. Perry Stearns, budget and Mrs. George Levin, membership publicity.

All women who are interested but who could not attend the meeting on Tuesday are invited to the meeting on Jan. 29 at a time and place to be selected at a later date.

Wesleyan Guild Party At Church

The annual Christmas party for the Wesleyan Guild of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church was held Tuesday night in the church parlor with a large attendance. The brief business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Joan Toms.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Ann Edinger and included group singing of Christmas carols. A reading, "Miracle in the Wilderness" by Paul Gallaco was given by Mrs. Merlin Rutt.

The refreshment tables were decorated in the traditional Christmas motif. Hostesses were Mrs. Ella Mae Kitson, Mrs. Doris Kortright, Mrs. Betty Miller, Mrs. Joan Toms and Mrs. Charlotte Westbrook. Gifts were exchanged.

Tableau Marks Program At Dutch Reformed

Bushkill — The December meeting of the Missionary Society of the Dutch Reformed Church was held on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Helen Cook introduced the program with a narration of Christian events throughout the course of time since the birth of Jesus. Mrs. Argus Miller read the scripture and Mrs. C. N. Guillot presented a reading, "No Room in the Inn."

Mrs. Albert Smith Jr., in befitting attire portrayed Mary at the cradle of the Baby. The speakers who related events concerning the Christmas season spoke from the lectern and then crossed to stand behind the portrait setting and sing a verse of a hymn appropriate to their respective narration.

Those participating were Mrs. Ralph G. Turn whose topic related to the hymns and carols and their significance to the season. Mrs. Lawrence Butz read of the English people and their customs for celebrating the yuletide. Mrs. George Angle narrated the story of the Dutch and their way of commemorating the season. Mrs. Lawrence Dickson gave the story of the hymn, "Silent Night" and the place it has attained. Mrs. Ivan Michaels spoke of the origin of the carol, "Joy to the World" which is attributed to Hebrew, German, English and American heritage.

Mrs. William Laubner served as pianist and accompanied the singing.

Mrs. Cornell Faucett was hostess to the group and served refreshments at a table which was festively decorated with greens and red candles.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Let's make cookies tonight! Let's keep Christmas in the old-fashioned way, with the warm, delicious scent of ginger, spice, and everything nice spreading from the kitchen into the living room, and the children's eyes brightly serious as they bend over the cookie sheet to place raisin eyes in the gingerbread boy. So much about Christmas is artificial... like the pink and blue trees that look so pretty and would have so dazzled the eyes of the Christ Child. So much of Christmas is sophisticated like those greeting cards with cocktail shakers instead of Wise Men on the cover. So much about Christmas has become grossly commercial, that it seems to me a wonderful idea to take a firm grip on a few old customs, and bring the holidays down to earth again—back into the heart of the family.

This Christmas has, thus far, been my most rewarding in years. It began with the finishing of the kitchen furniture from Sears... with my sons and I shapping happily away with brushes, and my little daughter down on her knees beside me, rubbing away to remove the "gunk" as fast as the stain dried. It was the first time we had ever undertaken such an extensive project... and now we're proud of our accomplishment. When my little girl stands in her stoeling feet on the chair to reach the light, and slides around as though she were on ice, she chuckles. "Boy, Mommie," she says, "I sure did wax this seat, didn't I?" I note too that the children are more careful about scratching furniture that was stained, buffed, and coaxed into glossy perfection by their own efforts.

Last Sunday there was the wrapping of packages... books to be inscribed by a nine-year-old who was much-impressed with the importance of her task... silver paper to be cut... ribbons to be tied... and finally the ornaments from last year to be rounded up and counted, since so many were crushed last season when "Puddy" the cat considered it her duty to knock the tree over at least once before breakfast each day. Addressing the cards will be our next project... and, just as we filled our "goodie jars" together, we'll make our Christmas baking a family affair.

Baking isn't too much of a chore these days, goodness knows, what with the packaged mixes being sold at the super markets. But it can still be fun! And if you are one housewife who prefers to mix her own batter, Wyckoff's is prepared to offer plenty of assistance with several d-lightful little cookie books priced at only 1.00. These Peter Panper and ABC cook books can be found in our stationery department, and are so neatly bound and attractively illustrated they'd make charming "Secret Pal" gifts.

Cookie sheets are available in our housewares department, naturally, or down in Sears, and Mary Hitesman has a wonderful assortment of cookie cutters. There is, for instance, a Pennsylvania Dutch cutter box, with distelfink, tulip, people, star, and the like—six in all for 1.00. One of these boxes PLAYS a cookie book would be an unusual and doubtless very welcome, 2.00 gift. For those who will make ginger cake, rather than ginger cookies, there's an aluminum pan in the shape of the gingerbread boy at 50c. This can also be used as a gelatin mold. Various sizes of gingerbread boy cookie cutters are priced at 50c also... while biscuit or doughnut cutters are 15c each, and fluted cutters for sugar cookies come in sets of three at 45c.

For those who make drop cookies and have trouble in attaining uniform size, there's a Foley dropper priced at 49c. A Foley ball-bearing roller is 98c. So now, what else could anyone possibly need — except the nuts, sugars, hard candies, raisins, and "baking" decoration.

Christmas can be such fun! But let's keep it in the family this year. Let's decorate the tree... and candles... together. Let's make cookies tonight!

Bushkill PTA Joins School For Program

Bushkill—The Bushkill Parent Teachers Association held their meeting recently at which time members heard reports of committees and progress of the association.

Lawrence Butz reported that the November shooting match netted proceeds of $134.15.

Mrs. Wilford Moore reported that Christmas cards had been sold and that approximately 30 boxes remained.

Eldon Larsh, president, announced that the Christmas party and December meeting would be combined and held on December 15, at 8:00 p.m. at the school. There will be an exchange of twenty-five cent gifts among members and guests.

Mrs. Jeanette Raughley and Mrs. Edna Palmer, teachers, were asked to submit prices at the December meeting on a record player and also a film strip machine. The PTA is contemplating the purchase of an item to be used by the teachers in working with the children.

Mrs. Keiper reported that two dozen cups and saucers had been purchased by the organization and two dozen were donated by Mrs. E. B. Bartram.

Mrs. Lawrence Butz presented a message from G. Welles Van Campen, director of Lehigh Township Civil Defense Council for volunteers to staff a mass case center in this township. Volunteers were Mrs. Paul Florin, Mrs. Eldon Larsh, Mrs. B. H. Bousley, Mrs. Marshall Keiper, Mrs. Horton Stettler, Mrs. Ralph Turn, Mrs. William Laubner, Mrs. Wilford Moore, Mrs. C. N. Guillot and Mrs. Lorraine Flagler. Mrs. Butz stated that any persons wishing to help in Civil Defense could contact either herself or Director VanCampen.

The white elephant gift was presented by Mrs. Donald Smith and presented to Luther VanWhy.

Hostesses were Mrs. Floyd Dickson and Mrs. Raymond Dickson. Mrs. Irving Courtright and Miss Mary Ann Howey assisted the hostesses in serving.

ESSTC Cage Machine Rolls To Fourth Straight Win, 102-65

Trenton No Match For Warriors

EAST Stroudsburg State Teachers found something to like for the first time this season — a heightless opponent — and the Warriors made hay while the lights burned, lambasting hapless Trenton STC, 102-65.

Picking off rebounds with little or no effort, the Warriors of Jim Reed took the lead right from the outset and went on to register their fourth straight victory before 900 partisan fans in the home gymnasium.

There was little doubt from the start that East Stroudsburg could name the score. From Charley German's foul shot that gave the locals a 1-0 lead, the Reedmen were in command of everything but selling tickets.

With Dan Trautman, German, Steve Oliveri and Jack Burke setting up plays like a general running a maneuver, East Stroudsburg penetrated the Golden's defense almost at will. Only the Warriors infrequent shoddy ball-handling kept the score from going even higher.

Everyone in Act

Reed saw fit to give everyone a chance as he inserted the entire corps of Hillers into the game. The opening five—Dave (Kelly) McLaughlin, German, Karl Wigner, Jack Burke and Trautman—played a little over or less than half of the 40 minutes of action.

McLaughlin, who went into the game averaging 30 per cent, came out with a dip in average as he racked up 23 during his 25 minutes on the court.

German, who raked the boards for nine rebounds during his tenure, tabbed 15 to share second honors with Charley Stauffer, who led the club off the boards with 12 snafes. Wigner was No. 3 on the totum pole with 12 tallies.

All told, East Stroudsburg plucked 55 balls off the banks as McLaughlin with nine and Guy (Cub) Possinger with five helped Stauffer, German and McLaughlin.

Trenton's lone threat was a 5-6 deadeye by the name of Lou Hertzstein. The shortie as basketball players go, tied McLaughlin for individual points laurels with 23, mostly on one-handed push shots from the outside.

Grab 14-4 Lead

With McLaughlin spinning in nine points, the Warriors accumulated a 14-4 edge before the battle was three minutes old.

Then Wigner, a good passer as well as a rebounder, collaborated with Burke and McLaughlin on give-and-go sorties and before you knew it East Stroudsburg had a 27-14 spread.

Here Wilmont Smith, Oliveri, Possinger and Stauffer and German took over and ran the total to 49-27 at halftime.

With the "first five" back in action after the intermission, German took over the scoring leadership and sparked the Reedmen to a 63-40 advantage.

At this point the mopup returned to duty and clean they did until to the bulge hit 98-65. With the crowd clamoring for the 100th point, Tom Spillane stepped to the foul line and dropped two charity tosses. Seconds later, Smith made it official with a two-pointer.

Jayves Win 1st

In the preliminary, East Stroudsburg Jayves broke into the win column for the first time by defeating Trenton's underlings, 79-67.

At 10, with 10, paved the Little Warriors, while Buchsky and Malloy with 14 and 13 respectively topped the visitors.

Hornung Failed To See Any Reduction In Irish Spirit

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP) — If there was anything wrong with the famed Notre Dame spirit this year, Paul Hornung couldn't detect it.

Hornung, a tall, handsome youngster with an easy manner and the poise that seems to belong to all Notre Dame quarterbacks, met and conquered the New York press today at a luncheon preceding the annual Heisman Trophy dinner at which he was to receive the award as the outstanding college football player of the 1956 season.

Seixas Suffers Injury To Shoulder

PERTH, Australia, Dec. 12 (AP) — A stabbing shoulder pain struck Vic Seixas today on the eve of the draw for the interzone Davis Cup matches with India but the former national tennis champion from Philadelphia insisted he would be able to play.

"I think it is just a knotted muscle in the base of my neck," said the Davis Cup veteran. "It must have been caused by the wind. I am sure it is not a serious strain or anything like that."

Schedule

Seixas, 33, and Herbie Flam, the retrieving wizard from Beverly Hills, Calif., are scheduled to be drawn tomorrow for Friday's opening singles matches against Ramanathan Krishnan and Nares Kumar of India.

Bill Talbert, U.S. captain, was not greatly disturbed by the development and said he planned to name Seixas unless the pain had worsened tomorrow. If Vic is withdrawn, Sam Giannalva of Houston will be substituted.

Police Guard Against Attacks

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Dec. 12 (AP) — Fears of new raids by the outlawed Irish Republican Army sent royal Ulster police and troops scouring the mountainous frontier with the Irish Republic tonight.

Prime Minister Lord Brookeborough said evidence indicated raids early Wednesday by roving bands of gunmen originated in Eire. He accused the Irish Republic of failing to cooperate in checking the outlaws.

Monroe County In Action Today

MONROE COUNTY League will resume action at Harmon's Recreation today starting at 9:15 p.m. The schedule:

Alleys one and two — Courtland Restaurant vs. Johnnie's Inn.

Alleys three and four — C. L. U. Club vs. Bessecker's Diner.

Alleys five and six — Al Bessecker's Diner vs. Gem Lunch.

Cage Officials Meet Tonight

STROUDSBURG Chapter, PIAA Basketball Officials, will meet at the YMCA tonight at 7:45.

Al Sterner, secretary, will lead the period devoted to an interpretation of the rules.

In Johnny Kucks only World Series start he blanked the Dodgers 9-0, winning the 1956 Series for the Yankees.

Michigan State's 1957 football schedule lists home games with Indiana, Purdue, Illinois, Notre Dame, Minnesota and Kansas State.

Vanderbilt has beaten Florida six times in eight football meetings.

Judge Denies Motions By Association

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP) — Federal Judge Sidney Sugarman denied motions by the National Basketball Assn. and others today to dismiss a million dollar antitrust suit brought by the Washington Professional Basketball Corp., Inc. The court held that the plaintiff states a claim upon which relief can be granted and that the Washington group "has standing to sue."

The Washington corporation filed the suit in May, 1955, charging that the NBA and its members conspired to prevent it from buying the franchise of the bankrupt Baltimore Bullets. The suit also alleged that the plaintiff as a result was blocked from being admitted to the NBA.

Grounds

The NBA had sought dismissal on the grounds that the antitrust laws do not apply to basketball.

Defendants in the suit, besides the NBA, are Maurice Podoloff, its president and treasurer; Madison Square Garden Corp., Inc.; Syracuse Professional Basketball Club, Inc.; Boston Celtics Basketball Club, Inc.; Zolner Machine Works, Inc.; and Minneapolis Basketball, Inc.

Red Athletes Visit U. S.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12 (AP) — A party of 18 Russian Olympic Games coaches, trainers and officials en route home from Melbourne went sightseeing in Los Angeles today with permission of the U.S. Immigration Service.

Visas were waived in behalf of Olympic Games members of all countries and the Russians' inadmissibility to the United States as members of the Communist Party also was waived, said Albert Del Guercio, district director of the service.

Short Stay

"This, of course, is only for their 15-hour stopover between planes," he said.

Dmitri Kraminov, English-speaking correspondent for Pravda, told newsmen that the Russians will pursue an effort to have the 1964 Olympics in Moscow.

The 1960 games will be in Rome, Italy.

Bonnies Drop Two Players

OLEAN, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP) — St. Bonaventure University today announced that Jerry Osheski and Ernie Bokone have been suspended "indefinitely from the varsity basketball team for violating a training curfew."

The Rev. Walter Fox, O.E.M. athletic director, announced the suspensions. Both players are seniors.

Wilkes-Barre

Osheski, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was a starting forward in the Bonnies two games to date. He scored a total of 12 points and grabbed 15 rebounds.

Bokone, of Elizabeth, N. J., was the team's second-ranked scorer last year with 294 points. He played in one game this season and scored 10 points.

Sid Smith, 31, is the only member of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey team over 30 years of age.

Costa Ends Losing Habit Against Jorgensen With Unanimous Decision In Garden Ring

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP) — Clever Carmelo Costa, who had failed to beat Paul Jorgensen, 21, in two Houston fights, got him on his home grounds tonight and took a unanimous decision in a 10-round match at Madison Square Garden.

Costa weighed 129½, Jorgensen 127½. The featherweight from Port Arthur, Tex., who hadn't been beaten in 16 previous starts since August, 1955, failed to live up to his reputation.

Although Costa was cut over the left eye in the ninth and over the right in the tenth, he won going away on all three official cards.

Referee Harry Kessler, who repeatedly warned Jorgensen for holding, gave Costa an 8-1-1 edge. Judge Al Singer saw it 7-3 and Judge Artie Aldala 6-3-1 all for Costa.

In exchange, the Cubs gave catcher Joe Hannah.

Although the Cubs have an established second-base combination in shortstop Ernie Banks and second sacker Gene Baker, rumors persisted Baker might be trade bait for a centerfielder.

Outfielder Frank Thomas or Lee Walls of the Pittsburgh Pirates is said to be coveted by Cub General Manager John Holland.

Holland said Wise, 24, started out as a second baseman and also could play third base. Wise, son of Hugh Wise, scout for the Milwaukee Braves, batted .287 and played in all of Los Angeles' 168 games last season. He led the league's shortstops in fielding.

Sports Trail - -

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—At the risk of having their prestige snatched around a bit by some upstart just old enough to travel the tournament trail without a guardian, Professional Golf Assn. members have opened the gates, at least partially, for such an "outsider" to compete in their own private tournament.

In a wise move the organization has authorized its tournament committee to select as many of the first 25 money winners of the previous year as it pleases to play in the event, regardless of whether or not their experience qualifies them as members.

In a way it was a self-preservation move, in that so many of the leading lights of the tour nowadays are young fellows who haven't served their five-year apprenticeship, that barring them for that reason would remove some fine gate attractions.

Feeling

And with such players barred, as they were until now, the winner of the event which the pros like to believe is the toughest of them all to win would have the uneasy feeling that it was a rather hollow victory.

That is, he couldn't be sure that he would have beaten the absent young men, and inasmuch as the tournament is supposed to determine the king of the pros, at least temporarily, it only would determine the king of the PGA pros.

The others are pros too, according to the accepted definition, so when they are excluded the label of pro champion must be recognized with reservations.

There was a time when the five-year apprenticeship before full membership in the PGA made sense, just as it still makes sense for a carpenter or bricklayer or plumber to put in his time learning his trade before he can join a union.

In those days, before the advent of what you might call mechanized equipment, being a golf pro called for a high degree of craftsmanship to go along with other duties such as ability to teach, run a shop, and otherwise conduct the business of a club pro.

Combination

It really was a combination trade and profession. Now it is just a profession. The days of the individual club maker are pretty much a thing of the past. Mass-produced steel shafted clubs have eliminated the necessity of learning the art.

It is doubtful if many, or any, of the current touring stars could go into a shop and make a club. The old timers still can do it, of course, but most of them have vanished from the tournament scene.

The pros of an earlier era expected to make their living working at clubs. There were no tournament trails to follow to augment an income, or even provide a sole income.

The young fellows of the past looking toward a career as pro went through a very rigid apprenticeship. Most of them were graduated from the caddy ranks to menial jobs in the pro shop. They swept out the place, cleaned clubs. Gradually they advanced through the various stages — wrapping, making minor repairs — watching and learning the technique of the master.

It took years to become an experienced craftsman, and that they wouldn't be accepted as a full-fledged pro until they had qualified in all departments is understandable.

But times have changed. The touring pros don't have to be able to make clubs. Just swing them. Sometimes a fellow can learn to do that much quicker than he could learn to make them.

Bisons To Train At Pompano Beach

POMPAÑO BEACH, Fla., Dec. 12.—The Buffalo Bisons of the International baseball league signed today for spring training here.

The city agreed to do up to $5,000 work on Kester Field and its clubhouse. The Chamber of Commerce donated $1,500 toward installing the triple-A team here for a March 15-April 15 conditioning stay.

Lehigh 'Ironman'

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Pete Johnson, senior guard from Upper Montclair, N. J., was the "Ironman" of the 1956 Lehigh University football squad. The durable 175-pounder played 369 minutes during Lehigh's nine-game campaign.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers plan to invade Jersey City again next year, playing one day game and seven night contests in Roosevelt Stadium.

New College Circuit Receives Backing

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Athletic directors of six of the East's biggest independent universities agree independent football will hold its own despite growing conference ties such as the Ivy League, an Associated Press survey disclosed today.

A seventh director, A. F. (Bud) Dudley of Villanova, took the opposite view and urged a new eastern football conference made up of top independents.

The directors were asked if they believed the future of independent football was dim and if their institutions would join a conference of such schools as Boston College, Boston University, Colgate, Holy Cross, Penn State, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, Army, Navy and Villanova.

College, Pro Grads Shine In Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—Former college stars, including some who already have made the grade in pro football, dominate all service teams announced today by papers serving the Armed Forces.

Topping the list were Vinnie Drake, ex-Fordham quarterback now a second lieutenant with the 3rd Armored Division in Germany; Pete Brown, center from Georgia Tech now a first lieutenant at Shaw Air Force Base, S. C.; and Bob Simpson, Nebraska State Teachers product who played guard for Alameda (Calif.) Naval Air Station.

Each was named "Most Valuable Player" respectively by the Army Times, Air Force Times and Navy Times, who polled coaches, sports writers and servicemen.

Drake played pro ball for Winnipeg in Canada before entering the Army. He completed 70 of 130 passes for 1,607 yards this season in Europe.

Brown, a 6-foot-1, 200 pounder, once played for the San Francisco 49ers.

Simpson, a 230-pound lineman, beat out two all-time Naval Academy greats, end Ron Beagle and quarterback George Welsh, on the All-Sea eleven embracing Navy, Marine and Coast Guard personnel.

Roster

The 22-man All-Army team includes: Guards—Ron Hoffman, Southern Area Command, Europe, St. Lawrence University, Farmingdale, N. Y.

Quarterback — Drake; Charlie Maloy, Ft. Dix, N. J.; holy Cross, Rochester, N. Y.

Halfbacks — Dave Rogers, 2nd Infantry Division, Ft. Benning, Indiana University, Warren, Ohio.

The all-Air Force first team includes:

Halfbacks—Billy Reynolds, Bolling AFB, Pitt, St. Mary's W. Va. The All-Sea service first team includes:

Ends — Beagle, Quantico, Va.; Navy, Covington, Ky.

Guards — John Docherty, Quantico Point, R. I., no college experience, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Quarterback — Welsh, Norfolk, Va.; Navy, Coalfield, Pa.

Halfbacks—Dick Snyder, Pensacola, Fla.; Navy, Easton, Pa.

U. S. To Bypass Russian Hockey

BRENSWICK, Maine, Dec. 12 (AP)—The U. S. State Department has turned down plans for the nation's top amateur hockey players to compete in a international tournament in Russia's next year because of Russia's actions in Hungary, team leaders said today.

Officials of the U. S. Amateur Hockey Assn. team, currently training at the Bowdoin College Arena, said the group would be permitted to go, if the competition should be changed to some other place in Europe. He said Sweden is being considered as a possible site.

Yank Claims 1st Olympic Romance

MELBOURNE, Dec. 12 (AP)—American marathon runner Dean Thackeray of Boston announced what he claims as the first Olympic romance of the 1956 games.

Thackeray disclosed his engagement—kept secret for over a fortnight—to a Melbourne girl, Toni Tanceredi, 19, a waitress at the Olympic Village during the games.

In 1948 Olympics

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Gerry Lee-man, Lehigh University wrestling coach, was a member of the U. S. Olympic wrestling squad in 1948. He finished second in his division during the Olympics in London, England.

Dudley has said he would raise the matter of a football conference at the annual Eastern College Athletic Conference this week in Newark, N. J. The Ivy League, formalized for the first time this season, aroused considerable interest. The East's largest crowd, with the exception of the Army-Navy 100,000 throng, was the 68,000 drawn to the Yale-Princeton game in New Haven.

Syracuse

Another director, Lewis P. Andreas of Syracuse, went along with Dudley in supporting a conference. Syracuse was 1956 winner of the Lambert Trophy, symbolic of football supremacy in the East, and meets Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl.

But Andreas said "independent football will survive although some schools may have difficulty maintaining themselves."

Schedule making for independents is tougher today than it once was, Ernest B. McCoy, Penn State athletic director said. He added: "But independent football is by no means bad. The good independents are still in demand among the conference affiliated schools."

McCoy also said "much good would accrue to eastern football from an eastern conference."

Col. Earl Black, Army athletic director and football coach, agreed "the formation of a league . . . would be good and could add to the interest of eastern football."

"However, the formation of such a league is not a prime requisite for the continuation of good independent football."

National

He said Army would not join a conference because "this is a national institution. As such we are required to play teams from virtually every section of the country."

Stronger independent positions were taken by Pittsburgh's Tom Hamilton, Colgate's Everett D. Barnes and Navy's Elliot Doughlin.

Hamilton, former Pitt and Navy football coach, said "as long as independent football maintains a respectable and worthwhile standard I can see no reason why it cannot maintain itself in the face of conference ties." Pitt meets Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl.

White Sox Set Pace In Defense

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox took American League fielding honors in 1956 and had three players tops in their positions, official league records showed today.

The Comiskey's defensive mark of .979 was one point better than the Cleveland Indians. Following the Tribe in field performance were New York and Baltimore, each at .977; Detroit .976; Kansas City .973 and Boston and Washington .972.

The White Sox leaders were Walt Dippo, Nellie Fox and Sherman Lollar. Dippo edged Bill Skowron of New York, .9934 to .9935 for first base fielding laurels. Fox was an easy winner at second base with .986. Catcher Lollar had .993.

Others

Other leaders: Third base — George Kell, Baltimore, .978; shortstop—Harvey Kuenn, Detroit, .968; outfield—Jim Piersall, Boston, .961.

Statistically, Boston's Tommy Brewer was the slickest fielding moundman. He racked up .988 by making only one error in handling the ball 81 times.

New York, with a total of 214 double plays, came within three of matching the major league mark set by the old Philadelphia A's in 1949.

Chicago had the fewest errors of any club, 122. Cleveland was next with 129. Washington committed the most errors, 171.

Johnny Longden is still winning races at 46! He was born in Wakefield, Eng.

'Ball Control' Dominates Grid Season

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Out of a college football season that had everything from drab tie games to that weird 55-46 scoring match between Army and Colgate, there emerged one distinct trend in 1956.

Although this was described in various ways by the sports writers and broadcasters contributing to The Associated Press post-season survey, it could be summed up in two words—"ball-control."

No fewer than 15 of about 100 observers put it just that way. Others mentioned increasing and heavy emphasis on the ground game, as contrasted to the passing that received so much attention a few years ago.

A good many ascribed the tendency to run with the ball instead of throw it to the widespread popularity of the split T formation—primarily a running and ball control offense. One writer described it as "the cloud of dust and five yards split T offense."

Statistics

The statistics bear out the writers' opinions in this respect. Late season figures from the NCAA Service Bureau showed ten of the top 15 teams in rushing offense also among the 15 leaders in total offense but only four of the passing leaders in the same group.

Only one other trend received more than passing notice apart from those that came under the same general "control" heading.

That was the tendency to make college football more of a squad performance than a one team game in spite of the rule that eliminated two platoon football.

A half dozen or so writers noted the increasing use of unit substitutions, with the coaches attempting to strike a balance between their first and second lineups and to use them alternately. Some colleges, one writer pointed out, have "two or three first elevens" that were interchangeable.

New PGA System For Selecting '10'

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—A new system for selecting the top 10 tournament golfers of the year was announced by Ed Carter, tournament bureau manager of the Professional Golfers' Assn.

The plan is based on a point system, the points to be awarded on the basis of 45 points for the winner, 44 for the second-place winner and so on down to one point for the man who finishes 45th. The winner also will receive a five-point bonus, making his total 50 points.

PASS INTENDED FOR L. G. Dupre (No. 45) of the Baltimore Colts misfires as three Los Angeles Rams put on a jam session during pro game in L. A. The Rams jolted the Colts.

All-America Talent Plentiful In Annual Blue-Gray Tussle

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 12 (AP)—When 48 college seniors show their gridiron abilities in the annual Blue-Gray game here Dec. 29 every position will have a man who made honorable mention on The Associated Press All America list.

Of this group of 13 standout performers, eight will play for the Confederate all-stars and five for the Yankees.

Despite the Southern squad's numerical superiority among the nation's best players, the most impressive record belongs to a Yankee invader, quarterback Lenny Dawson of Purdue.

Signal Caller

The Boilermaker signal caller has completed 243 of 452 passes covering 3,325 yards in three years of college participation. His best year was 1954 when he made good 15 touchdown passes and posted a total passing yardage of 1,464.

While the North appears to be concentrating on an aerial offense, the Rebels' strength seems to come principally from a running game. Jack Pardee of Texas A. & M. is one of the Confederates' best hopes with a season's record of 455 yards rushing in 95 attempts.

Ronny Quillian of Tulane topped that with 625 yards in 156 carries and Ed Stout of North Carolina has still a better mark of 748 yards in 120 trips through the line. The other Blue-Gray performers who made All-America mention include center Dan Radakovich of Penn State.

Other North squad members include tackle Walt Mazur, Penn State.

3rd In History
BETHLEHEM, Pa. — When Dan Nolan, junior quarterback from Mechanicville, N. Y., and Pete Williams, junior tackle from Milford, Conn., were elected co-captains of the 1957 Lehigh University football team, it marked only the third time in Lehigh's 72-year football history that the honor was bestowed to men.

Needles Champ Horse

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 12 (AP)—D. and H. Stable's Needles, hero of the 1956 Kentucky Derby, has been named champion 3-year-old colt by the Thoroughbred Racing Association's board of selection.

Vacant Coaching Berths Start 'Big Names' Denying Rumors

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—With a half dozen or so of the best coaching jobs in college football up for grabs, the "big name" men of the coaching profession can expect to spend a lot of time denying rumors for the next month or so.

The losers' slogan at this stage no longer is "hang the coach" but "let's get the best."

With the end of the 1956 college season, three head coaches with long and honorable records have gone into retirement and a half dozen others have resigned — or have been politely fired — at major colleges.

The list reads like this: Retired — Lou Little, Columbia; Don Faurot, Missouri; and Jesse Hill, Southern California. The last two are moving into athletic directors' posts.

Resigned — Ed Price, Texas; Chalmers (Woody) Woodward, Southern Methodist; Bernie Crimmins, Indiana; Vince DiFrancesco, Iowa State; Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, California; and just yesterday, John Sauer, The Citadel.

In addition, Roy Dennis of Occidental resigned in November to devote his full time to academic work and track coach Chuck Coker was named last week to succeed him. And Earl (Fuzz) Morrill, 60, of Pomona-Claremont College in California asked to be relieved by a younger man, recommended by a younger man, recommended by a younger man.

Texan, SMU, Iowa State and Southern California clearly are interested in coaches with well-known names and established reputations. The other schools haven't given much indication of what they want and it appears unlikely many of the jobs will be filled before the coaches' convention early in January.

In Vienna, Cherne and another associate loaded a battered American car with clothing, drugs and 30 loaves of bread.

Stopped

Pushing through to Budapest, they were stopped more than 20 times, once by a pair of Russian tanks, more often by rebel fighters. What got them through to the rubble strewn city where lighted candles cast an eerie glow in the darkness? A Red Cross flag and an unofficial password: America.

Military Spending To Go Higher

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 12 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said after conferring with President Eisenhower today "it certainly looks" as though military spending next fiscal year will run higher than the 36 billion dollars estimated this year.

And Wilson told reporters he sees no prospect for "any substantial change" in the strength level of the armed forces, now at 2,800,000 men.

Truman Visit, Traffic Debate Mark News Last March

EDITOR'S NOTE:—Today's story is the third in a series of 12 articles to be written by Leonard Randolph. Each story will deal with one month of 1956. The articles will appear from time-to-time for the balance of the year.

By Leonard Randolph

MONROE COUNTY had a visit from former president Harry Truman in March. It was only a whistle stop for Harry but 300 people mustered enough courage to come out to meet him on the heels of the worst blizzard of the year.

Besides the weather, major topics of news and conversation during the month were: the State probe of the Toll Bridge Commission; county reactions to Ike's announcement he would run again; Stroudsburg's parking meter problems; three major fires and a much-deserved, if belated, tribute to one of our men—Les Carlton, retired Daily Record photographer.

Eight local organizations got the month off on the right foot with a drive to set up a "home for the aged" on March 1. Prime movers were: Business and Professional Women's Club, Kiwanis and the Department of Public Assistance local office.

Monroe Countians proved their collective ability as prognosticators the night Eisenhower said he'd run. In a phone interview they said: (1) that he'd definitely be the GOP candidate, (2) that he'd be re-elected and (3) that Richard Nixon would be his running mate. Even so, nobody had an offer from George Gallup the next day. Too bad, though. Think of all the time and money the pollsters could have saved if they'd signed you up.

New Job

Onetime chief county clerk Henry Taylor stepped into a new job. He was named executive secretary of Monroe County Housing Authority. State officials renewed their plea with residents to give them rights-of-entry so they could clean out the mess Hurricane Diane left in our streams. State legislators said they'd reached agreement on a three percent sales tax; said they thought the whole thing was over. Local residents (mostly school directors) kept one ear to the ground and all fingers crossed. They'd been fooled before.

This time our august body of senators knew whereof they spoke. Five days later—at midnight—the bill went into law. There was still some question about whether we'd have to pay off in pennies or buy stamps, though. Most people thought it didn't matter much; it still took taxes to make ends meet in the State—and you had to have something to grumble about, anyway.

The committee investigating alleged irregularities and lavish spending by the former members of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission stirred up a little local conversation stuff. Seems as though the boys had held a big party at a local hostelry and the committee heard all about it—things like orchid muffs for models, champagne (not for ginger ale people, this) and a total tab that seemed to hover somewhere in the neighborhood of $6,770. Committee members praised the local hotel for its cooperation in the probe; said it probably was a fine party but it took a lot of toll charges to do all that.

In Baltimore, young (17) Peter Lorenz, an Eastburg High graduate, was killed when he fell from a scaffolding where he was working. It was the first dark touch of tragedy in the new month and it came on the first day.

A labor survey, prepared as a joint effort by several local groups with the aid of high school students, put some startling figures before us. More than 1,100 Monroe men and women were employed outside the county, it said. Two-thirds of them would work here if they could find jobs.

A spectacular, hard-to-fight fire gutted the Hy-Grade Blouse plant at 51 N. Second St. on March 4. The following day the State Aeronautics Commission told us it would allocate $75,000 to Mount Pocono Airport Authority. The first steps toward an Upper Delaware Basin Flood Control Council were taken. Men in charge wanted it to include all boroughs, municipalities along the line from Hancock, N. Y. right on down through Stroudsburg. Over in East Stroudsburg, there was a cheerful bit of news: The community got the report that a group of young Quakers were coming to town to help clean up the borough playground. Work on the grounds began on March 9 with high school students shouldering the burden.

Appointment of Travis Seese as police chief in East Stroudsburg was approved; policemen answered by throwing a Steak dinner for the new chief. Pocono Jaycees announced they were going to sponsor an egg hunt for Easter. Project involved handling some 5,760 eggs. Men in charge of this delicate operation said it was okay for the old folks to come out, but they couldn't hunt. Just egg the kids on, as we said in our story.

Discussion Ends

Stroudsburg Burgess Hal Harris put an end to a "will he—won't he" discussion; signed his name to a new borough parking law which stripped police of jurisdiction over meters, set up meter attendants who went on duty March 22, began tagging cars with a bright, new ticket shaded Kelly green. St. Patrick's Day was upon us and past, by then, so even the Irish couldn't get much joy from the little cardboard squares.

At that same Council meeting, officials adopted a resolution urging the burgess to stop taking traffic off Main St. and putting it on Ann St. "The Battle of Ann St." was officially joined on the 23rd when two local trucking firm owners—Bill Tarr and Claude Cypners—refused to run their truck over Ann. Residents said the shake, rattle and roll of trucks was putting chuk-holes in their macadam. Everybody chose up sides, but the firing cooled down before month's end. It was a temporary truce.

District Forester Clyde Pyle came out with a disturbing report on March 8; told the people that at least 90 percent of Monroe County's massive forest fires during 1955 had been deliberately set by incendiaries. Up in Scranton our man Les Carlton found himself the center of attraction at an area Press Photographers Association dinner; grumbled right out loud when the boys presented him with an award honoring him for his services. Carlton said he didn't know quite how to act on the other end of a flashlight. We thought he turned out to be pretty photogenic, all things considered.

Monroe County Civil Defense formally organized its disaster rescue squad. Millard Marsh was re-elected chief of Stroudsburg Fire Department. The YMCA honored three men—Dr. Joseph Noonan, E. Holt Wyckoff and Clifford Gilliam—at its 42nd anniversary dinner. Company G, National Guard, got itself officially inspected; earned praise for its officers, non-coms—and the enlisted men, too.

The government (that's all of us) said it was going to turn over a probe of construction contracts at Tobyhanna Signal Depot to a grand jury. Man up in Scranton let a couple of hints drop during the month about what it was going to be, but it was the best kept secret of the year, so far.

Back on the home front the men in charge over at the Chamber of Commerce declare as how they were going to start a membership drive. That was March 15 and it was the same day we published an announcement that "Give 'em Hell" Harry was going to pass through on the 17th. The weather bureau said heavy snow was due on the 16th. Both predictions came true.

The next day we were digging ourselves out of a six-inch snowfall. The banner headline of the day read: "Near-Blizzard Blows Into County." Residents seemed to agree that was as near as they wanted to get to a blizzard for awhile. Too bad, because the next night the snowfall increased to 17 inches, all added up, at Mount Pocono.

Classic Picture

Harry Truman came to town. Our man Rod MacLeod got what we consider a classic picture of the former president; showed him holding his hat in his left hand, beaming broadly at the crowd at Lackawanna station. The Record covered Truman's trek through Northeast Pennsylvania to Scranton right straight through. Over at the station Truman greeted visitors with: "You don't know what great satisfaction it gives me to see such a crowd out for an old has-been like me." It was a prologue to things to come; Harry was by all odds the most active "has-been" of the year in our political wars.

General Hospital got a brief note of sympathy from the Ford Foundation. That giant philanthropic organization sent around word that it was going to hand over a $60-

Winter Best Time To Spray For Peach Leaf Curl Disease

SPRAY PEACHES: Winter seems like a poor time to be talking about peaches, but actually it's the best time to spray for peach leaf curl disease. This is the pest that causes the leaves to redden in summer, then drop prematurely.

Although new leaves come on later, leaf curl can weaken and kill the tree. You can use Ferbam, liquid lime sulfur or Elgetol to combat leaf curl. Perhaps Ferbam is the simplest and most effective of the three for leaf curl. Mix up a spray and cover every bud and twig, following the branches right out to the tip, since the organism winters over in the bud scales.

One good dose will knock out peach leaf curl infection if you make a thorough cover. It's a good idea to spray underneath the tree since some of the spores may be overwintering on the ground.

Storing Seed: Although there are times when you shouldn't save seed for some vegetables and flowers, quite often gardeners do want to save some special kind. Seed of tomatoes, beets, eggplants, cucumbers, squash, muskmelon, lettuce and others store well under good conditions.

Question Box

By George Abraham
S.E. of Stroudsburg: "I have a jade plant that's 15 years old and for the second year it has had lots of flowers on it. Does it take a long time to get these to bloom? What care do they need so they'll flower more often?"

The jade plant (Crassula argentea) has small, star-like flowers borne in clusters. However, this item seldom or rarely ever blooms in the home. First, they have to grow to be large—much larger than the average home can tolerate, and flowering then only occurs when the plant is kept in full sunlight. Actually the jade plant is a shrub and there's nothing we know of you can do to make this South African subject bloom indoors. It will tolerate shade and neglect, but you'll find it does best in the window with bright light and if the soil is kept uniformly moist. In the summer, put the plant outdoors but at no time should be temperature drop below 40 degs., as this item is very tender. Indoors, the main trouble is leaf drop and this is due to poor light, poor soil drainage or too much water. Mealybugs and thrips trouble the plant, so keep after them with malathion.

E.K. of Tannersville: "We have a Japanese maple tree about 4 ft. tall. Apparently, it was hurt by the late frost this last spring as some of the branches had no leaves at all. How and when should you prune this tree so it won't be so lopsided?"

Wait until growth starts in spring. At that time cut out any dead wood so new growth can enter. This maple needs very little pruning other than cutting out any dead wood. Feed your tree in spring to encourage new growth. Don't expect this maple to grow fast because it's a slow grower by nature. In the summer, water it frequently, especially during dry spells, and then apply a mulch of sawdust or peat moss. This is a handsome tree whose foliage makes a fine background filler for almost any kind of flowers.

Christmas Seals Near $8,000

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALES pushed to within $1.65 of the $8,000 mark yesterday. Receipts now total $7,998.35, leaving $3,501.65 still to be raised in the closing days of the 1956 fund appeal of the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society.

More than half of the persons who received Christmas Seals at the start of the drive have now made returns. Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary, said replies have been forwarded by 4,569 persons of the 9,357 who were invited to contribute.

Letters

Follow-up letters are being mailed to about 2,000 of those who have not yet made their returns, Mrs. Fleming said.

Anyone wishing to donate to the anti-tuberculosis program of the society is urged to do so while the Christmas Seal sale is in progress. The TB Society office is at 621 Sarah St., Stroudsburg.

Ike Ties With Canada's Prime Minister

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Canada's Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, pitted against each other in team play, wound up "all even" in a nine-hole golf match today.

So when it was all over there was no strain whatever on friendly relations between the United States and Canada—even though Eisenhower started the round at the Augusta National golf course by outdriving St. Laurent by about 60 yards.

Visit

The Prime Minister, 74, stopped here for 4½ hours en route to his home in Ottawa from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where he got in 19 days of vacation. With him were a son, Renault, and a daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell.

Before and after golfing, Eisenhower and St. Laurent had "ample opportunity" to talk over the international situation and almost certainly did, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty reported.

Saylorsburg Resident Buys Ayrshire

RUSSEL YOUNG, Saylorsburg, recently made an initial purchase of one registered Ayrshire, according to the Ayrshire Breeders' Association Executive Secretary, Chester C. Putney, of Brandon, Vt.

The transaction was recorded in the National Office of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association in Brandon where complete records on all registered Ayrshires in the United States have been maintained since 1875.

Because of their ability to produce at a low cost an abundance of milk with an average butterfat test of four per cent, the Ayrshire breed of dairy cattle has become increasingly popular with dairymen throughout the country.

Mount Pocono Girl On Honor List

SCRANTON — Miss Genevieve Battisto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Battisto, 37 Reeder St., Mount Pocono, was among 117 young women recently singled out for high academic standing during traditional honors convocations exercises here at Marywood College.

Rev. Dr. Thomas C. Horan, college chaplain, formally announced to the assembled faculty and student body the names of those students who had completed the previous year's work with the highest work number of quality points to rank in the upper quarter of their classes.

Miss Battisto, a graduate of Stroudsburg High School, is a junior working toward her bachelor of arts in mathematics.

Rum Saves Refugees

OTTAWA, Dec. 12 (AP)—Refugee Mihaly Szokol said freedom was in sight when a Soviet patrol stopped him and his pals in Hungary.

The Russians led them into a clump of bushes, covering them with submachineguns. It looked like curtains. Then one of his comrades remembered he had a bottle of rum in his knapsack.

Szokol said when he and his friends left the bushes they had their freedom and the Russians had the rum.

buted to those who were downstairs, the students gathered and after securing permission from the custodians at the home, walked through the narrow, dimly-lit hallways to the dormitories overhead.

Here they sang the same carols over again. But they were almost new to the women in the rooms and the men in the ward who had heard them from the distant dining room.

A woman in the hallway murmured "God bless you" to the girl in the Santa Claus suit. In the ward, an elderly man sat up in his bed, watching with glowing eyes as the students stood around him, singing. He accepted his present with a grin.

The students sang the final notes of "Jingle Bells." There was a small pause in the still, wide room. Then they began to sing "Away In A Manger," softly and almost childishly in its simplicity.

In the far corner of the room, along the side wall, a dark-eyed man lay, his thin body covered to the chin by his blanket.

He could move his head only a little, from side to side. On the green cabinet beside his bed hung a cane. Its wood had been painted white from the tip to a point two inches below its crook.

Around his head there was the winding strip of a piece of gauze. His lips were dry and cracked. His cheeks were hollow and their dark shadows seemed to go deeper as he listened.

He closed his eyes, just once, and the rims were outlined by tears and the lashes grew darker.

For anyone in the room who wanted to look deeply and long enough, there was much of the meaning of Christmas in this one man's eyes.

Ford Foundation Grant To General Hospital Among One Of Last March's Major Stories

Pocono Township High School, out at Tannersville, rode through the district forensic contest on a crest of triumph; came home with four seconds, four thirds, one fourth. George O. Ott Sr., Bangor High School vocational agriculture instructor for Lo, these many years, won the State Belt Exchange Club's "Golden Deeds" award on the 24th.

A family of six was left homeless when their home burned out at Reeder's. In another fire, at Appenzell, fire destroyed most of a four-room frame Summer home. Police had their troubles. On Route 209 (March 27) a huge tractor-trailer overturned when the driver fell asleep at the wheel, police said. Damages were listed at about $5,000. Only trouble was the thing was loaded — with 100-pound sacks of potatoes. Local Jaycees turned over a total of $530 to four local churches whose buildings had been damaged by flood waters. William D. Johnson, local chapter member who headed up the State Jaycees drive, turned over checks.

Equipment Local Civil Air Patrol leaders let us know that they were due to receive about $25,000 worth of equipment. CAP had earned wide praise during recent months for its local, community activities — especially in time of disaster. Up in Bushkill, a bunch of residents signed a petition pleading with the State to put up adequate signs to warn motorists of the washed-out bridge over Big Bushkill Creek; said if something wasn't done, it could get worse.

There were three traffic fatalities on local highways. On March 8, Robert Dotter, 20, Brodheadville, was killed when his car went over a bank near Little Gap. Charles V. Norman, 35, (Stroudsburg RD 1, was killed instantly on March 18 when his jeep skidded on snow-covered, icy Cherry Valley Road, turned over on his body. Andrew J. Charetta, 45, Catskill truck driver died when his truck plunged through a barrier and down in Bushkill Creek on Route 209.

Over in East Stroudsburg, two young boys went out looking for "buried treasure" — and found some. It was a parking meter (missing since the previous November, police said) about three-fourths full of money. Boys found it in an ash pile back behind the old Pocono Hosiery Mill on Prospect. Unlike the gold rush, there were no lines of prospectors the following day.

A woman who knew her subject — Miss Mary Barnett, an expert reading consultant — came to town long enough to tell parents to stop griping because "Johnny can't read" and try doing something about it. A few "somethings": buy him books; read to him; don't get too busy to explain details when he asks; be patient. And, she might have added, turn off the old TV. Just for a couple of minutes out of every day.

The month of March closed around us with an atmosphere of solemnity and worship. Easter was just over the edge on the first day of April.

The picture was a simple one, in detail. But it had a certain complexity of meaning. It showed nothing but a large, dark cloud in the sky. The cloud filled nearly

Military Expenses To Increase

GENEVA, Dec. 12 (AP)—The U. N. Economic Commission for Europe said today a possible general increase in military expenditure arising from present tension would constitute "a new menace to orderly economic development" all through Europe and the Middle East.

The commission's quarterly bulletin said the long-range economic damage from a sharp increase in arms budgets might be greater than direct effects of the Middle East crisis and the blocking of the Suez Canal.

Assistance For Egypt

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—More than 10,000 CARE food packages are on their way to Port Said to help feed Egyptian families displaced by the recent fighting. Another 64,850 packages are being sent to the Gaza Strip to assist economic refugees, the organization says.

all of the photograph's four columns.

But behind it, marking the dark and ominous silence, there was the radiance and beauty of the light from the sun.

Hospitality Too Much

MELBOURNE, Dec. 12 (AP)—The U.S. destroyer Blue was preparing to depart when a young sailor belted down the gangplank and vanished into the tall grass back of the dock.

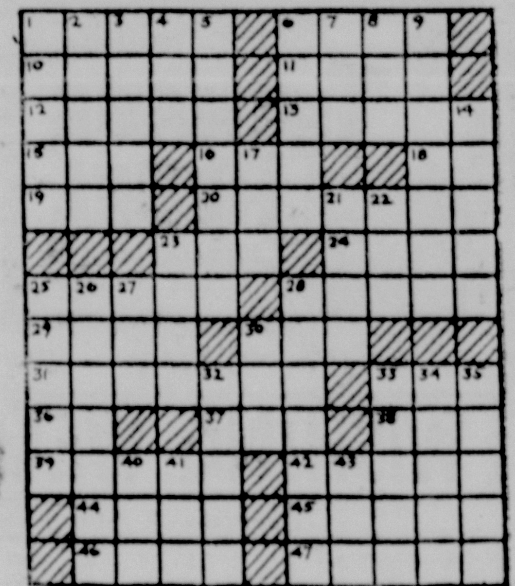

Australians saw four sailors sprint after him and drag him back aboard. The young sailor told the staring Australians:

"I guess your hospitality was a bit too much for me."

J. Fred Coots

Songwriter To Address Dutch Treat

ONE OF America's top veteran songwriters, J. Fred Coots, brings his program, "Melodies and Memories" to Stroudsburg Monday night.

Coots will appear before Dutch Treat Club members at the Penn-Stroud Hotel at 6:30 p. m. Monday.

He's a man who can speak with feeling and accuracy on the music most Americans have loved during the past three decades. The list of his popular tunes reads almost like an "all-time hit parade" and includes: "You Go To My Head," "I Still Get A Thrill," "For All We Know," "Love Letters In The Sand," "A Beautiful Lady In Blue" and a song that seems to keep coming back around about this time of the year, "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town."

Noted For Wit
Tin Pan Alley's song-ambassador is a man noted for his wit and ability as an ad-lib speaker. His reminiscences include many of the stories about top stars of today when they were still "unknown." Among them: Judy Garland, Bing Crosby, Kate Smith, Perry Como and Jackie Gleason.

If for no other reason, Coots would go down in U. S. entertainment history as the man who helped a then-obscure pianist named Jimmy Durante on the road to stardom and success. Coots himself got his initial start thanks to the interest and kindness of Eddie Dowling, the famous actor-producer when Dowling commissioned him to write the songs for the production of "Sally, Irene and Mary", one of the most successful musical shows in Broadway history.

Speaks Many Languages

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The new Libyan ambassador, Suliman Gerbi, is quite a linguist. The 51-year-old diplomat is fluent in Italian, English, French, Turkish, Greek and Arabic. His wife also speaks several languages.

Lions Plan For Future Club Events

STROUDSBURG LIONS, at their regular meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel Tuesday night, received news of the grave condition of Lion Irving Jallowsky, ill at the General Hospital. At the suggestion of Harold Miller, club president, the opening devotional service was extended, all members remaining standing for a brief season of silent prayer.

Miller reported on the condition of James Somers, club secretary, who recently submitted to an operation at the hospital and who is now on the road to recovery.

Instead of presenting an entertainment program for the meeting Miller called for a "State of the Union" session and several members spoke on the problem of low attendance at meeting.

John Price suggested an intensive study of the real reasons of members for remaining away from meetings. He thought it would be informative to contact the absentees and ask them to explain their reasons for absences. Miller asked if the speaker would be responsible for preparing a question sheet to be addressed to the delinquents and Price agreed to assume the duty.

John Regan urged the club to stress its prime purpose, public service, and do more work for the underprivileged. He suggested a new slogan "We do many good things but why can't we do more?"

Major Activity
Dr. Paul Maxwell suggested a possible major activity, the financing of anti-polio shots for all persons up to 40 years of age, in need of the same. He offered to devote his day off each week to organize such a project.

Maurice Bougar, Sam Monatt and William P. Deering advised a different approach to the matter of programs for meetings. Burt Sylvester pointed out that the providing of "more for the member's money," at the weekly meetings would soon make the meeting popular.

Emerson Rahn, chairman of the annual ladies' and kids' party took a census of probable attendees and reported attendance of the guests of honor at the session next week will probably be about 50. The club dinner will be at 6 p.m. and the ladies and children are asked to assemble at 6:45.

Each Lion will provide a gift for the child he invited, the gift to cost no more than a dollar. Santa Claus will be presented and distribute the presents and there will be entertainment and the serving of a collation to the guests of honor.

The attendance contest showed that Team Three is still ahead, leading team One 90 to 82.

The Apache and Navajo, two of Arizona's fourteen counties, have Indian populations that equal or exceed the white populations.

Release Of Depot

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee said today his committee has approved release of the Susquehanna Ordnance Depot at Allentown, Lycoming County, Pa., for use by private industry.
